INTERESTING FROM WASHINGTON.

GEN. SCOTT'S BACK PAY TO BE ALLOWED.

THE MEXICAN BOUNDARY SURVEY.

THE THREE MILLIONS INDEMNITY.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Oct. 14.

The decision of the Administration in regard to General Scott's pay will be reversed soon. It will give him the increased pay of Lieutenant General. The accounting officers of the Treasury are now engaged in settling upon the amount of back pay due up to the present time, which will account for the delay.

JOHN L. ASPINWALL, Esq., is now with Mr. BALLOW of New-York, as Counsel, looking after the three millions indemnity to be paid to Mexico under the Gadsden Treaty, but withheld until the establishment of the new Boundary line.

Major EMORY's report of the survey was received by the Secretary of the Interior on Friday, and is understood to be and signed as correct and true by Mr. SALAZAR, who was originally appointed the Commissioner on the part of Mexico, but was in prison during all the progress of the survey. It will be remembered that the treaty provides that the "line shall be alone established upon which the Commissioners may fix, their consent to this particular being considered decisive, and an integral part of this treaty, without the necessity of ulterior confirmation or approval, and without room for interpretation of any kind by either of the parties contracting."

At first view of the case it would seem to indicate that the time for the payment of the three millions has now arrived, Mr. SALAZAR having signed the report. This is the view taken by Mr. ASPINWALL, who holds drafts against the "indemnity" for a million and a half in his own name, and for an equal sum in conjunction with others; and he is here accordingly seeking to have his drafts cashed. The case, however, is not without serious difficulties, and its disposition involves some very nice as well as important questions, beyond that as to the validity of Mr. SALAZAR's signature.

One argument against Mr. ASPINWALL denies the validity of the drafts as against the United States—that is to say, it is argued that the United States, under the Gadsden Treaty, did not create an actual debt of three millions, but merely assumed an obligation, eviable at a future time, on the condition named therein. This view denies that Mexico, on its opinion, had any right to draw drafts against the three millions prior to the fulfillment of the condition, to wit: the "running, marking, and establishing" the boundary line; and therefore that the acceptance of those drafts and their payment by the United States would not furnish us with a discharge from any further claim on account.

On the other hand, the bilbholders claim that the Treaty created the debt, and that the fact of payment of the debt being deferred until the completion of the boundary survey can in no way invalidate its assignment to them by the Government of Mexico, which existed at the time the bills were drawn.

The most important element in the controversy, probably, is the question how the United States shall get a discharge of its obligation for the three millions. It is very clear that a man who draws against money to be due him a year hence, may subsequently give another draft for the same sum which shall take precedence of the first draft. Why, then, may not a Government do the same thing? And how is the United States Government, if it honors SANTA ANA's bills, to know, without inquiry, that the new Government of Mexico, created prior to the maturity of our three millions obligation, has not made a new draft for the same sum? How are we to be saved from any future demand for this same money?

I would not be understood as offering any personal opinion in this case; but as the anticipated three-million disbursement is a matter of some interest to your monied men, I state the points made on either side so far as I have heard them. It will be some days, and perhaps weeks, before the subject will be disposed of. JOHN VAN BUREN and LORENZO B. SHEPHERD were here on this same business a fortnight ago.

EMORY's report indicates that in addition to the gold and silver mines of the new purchase, its copper mines are the richest in the world. S.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST THE ACTION OF THE NAVAL RETIRING BOARD—MR. MASON AND THE TE DEUM—MR. CRAMPTON AND THE FOREIGN ENLISTMENTS—DR. KANE'S OFFICIAL REPORT, &C.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Oct. 14.

Some of the officers, retired by the Naval Board, have ineffectually complained to the President of the injustice of the action of the Board, especially as they exhibit letters from the Navy Department (previously received) attesting their capacity. They and their friends are making extensive preparations to operate on Congress with a view to obtaining justice.

The attendance of Mr. Mason, our Minister at Paris, at the Te Deum in celebration of the victory of the Allies, is regarded here as possessing no political significance, but is attributed to mere curiosity on his part.

At the commencement of the recruiting of troops for the Crimea, Mr. CRAMPTON had intimation that he and certain British Consuls were violating our neutrality laws, and under this aggravation of the case, it is now said that our Government will refuse longer, officially, to recognize them, if, after the additional instructions Mr. BUCHANAN has been instructed to make, they are not recalled.

The Union of this morning publishes Dr. KANE's official report of his Arctic expedition. It does not differ from the newspaper accounts previously published.

Three thousand six hundred Land Warrants were issued last week.

Letter from Mexico.

NEW-ORLEANS, Friday, Oct. 12.

The steamship Osiscle has arrived at this port, with dates from the City of Mexico to the 5th inst.

General ALVAREZ had been elected President by the College at Cuernavaca, but the military power will deny him entrance into the Capital, and hard fighting is anticipated.

VEGA had withdrawn from civil power, having refused to obey the orders of ALVAREZ to arrest the fugitive Ministers of SANTA ANA and arm the National Guard. His predecessor in office had again assumed his duties.

The rumors that were current to the effect that the American Minister had furnished money and arms to ALVAREZ, and signed a protestorate, have been denied by both Gen. ALVAREZ and Mr. GADSDEN.

Loss of the Lake Steamer Louisiana.

CHICAGO, Saturday, Oct. 13.

The Steamer Louisiana ran on a reef at Green Bay, on the night of the 7th inst., and at last accounts has now one five feet out of water, and she was in great danger of breaking up. Her cargo consisted of one hundred and sixty tons of merchandise.

The Southern Mail.

BALTIMORE, Sunday, Oct 14.

The New-Orleans mail of Saturday, Sunday and Monday, of last week, came to hand this morning, but the papers contain nothing of interest.

Market by Telegraph.

BALTIMORE, Saturday, Oct. 13.

Our Cotton market for the past week has been quiet, but with no decided alteration. We now quote FLOUR—Market active, and prices ruling with an upward tendency. Sales for the week, 44,000 barrels.

CHARLESTON, Friday, Oct. 12.

COTTON—Sales of the week, 16,000 bales, as to eight acting in prices. Receipts for the week, 19,000 bales. Stock on hand, 16,000 bales. Rice has advanced 25. Sales of the week, 2,500 barrels. FLOUR and WHEAT higher.

NEW-YORK CITY.

J. W. BARKER AND DR. HATCH.

A meeting of the Committee appointed to investigate charges against Mr. J. W. BARKER and Dr. HATCH, will be held this evening, at 7½ o'clock, in the Supreme Court Chambers, City Hall.

A meeting of the Committee appointed to investigate the charges against Mr. C. C. Du Bois, took place last Saturday evening, and was adjourned to Tuesday next, when the Committee will meet at 7½ o'clock, in the Supreme Court Chambers, City Hall.

Mr. WM. MUNDY, an Assistant Alderman from the Twelfth Ward, resigned his seat in the Board of Assistant Aldermen last evening, and the Board immediately adjourned for want of a quorum.

A meeting of the Democratic Republicans of the Twelfth Ward, was held last evening at Washington Hall, Bowery, Mr. BROWN in the Chair, and Mr. R. S. STEELE acting as Secretary. A resolution was adopted, repudiating and denouncing the action of the delegates to the Whig State Convention in "abandoning the ancient and well-tried principles of the old Whig Party," and five delegates were appointed to attend a Convention to be held in the Tenth Assembly District, to select a delegate and alternate to represent said District in the Old Line Whig Convention, to be held in this city on the 23d inst.

The Republicans.

The Central Republican Committee met on Saturday evening at the Marcy House. C. C. Leigh, in the absence of the President, occupied the Chair, and Messrs. L. H. Waite and George Cockman, the Secretaries, were present and officiated. It being understood that the Committee, in conjunction with the City Delegates to the Fusion State Convention, would report a City and county ticket, there was a large outside attendance. After its organization, the Committee was occupied for some time in receiving and acting on reports from the Committee on Credentials.

Delegates from the Sixth, Fourteenth and Sixteenth Wards appeared and were admitted. Gen. J. J. Chambers, from the Committee of Conference appointed at the previous meeting, reported simply in favor of appointing a committee to invite the City delegates who were assembled at No. 441 Broadway to unite with this body in a nominating convention. The report was agreed to, and the Committee appointed, who retired, and soon returned, accompanied by a committee of the other body, who reported that the invitation had been accepted. For some reason which did not transpire a joint session of both bodies did not take place, and no nominations were made. The Central Committee adjourned to the call of the Chair.

The Workingmen.

THE UNION IN DANGER.

The few enterprising individuals who have, for months past, been holding meetings under the name of "The Workingmen's Protective Committee," have, in imitation of political parties of larger growth, but, perhaps, of less pretension, split into fragments and factions. There are between them six candidates for Congress, with pretensions and determination. One faction, claiming to be the "real original Jacobs" caused Mr. Wm. C. West, of accounting to place the Committee under the control of the K. N.'s, by appointing members of the Order as delegates to the vacancies. When, in a few of the original members were present,—and of doing other things calculated not to advance the cause of the Committee.

Mr. West denied the accusation with warmth, and D. C. Henderson maintained its truth with vigor. The result was, from the Chronicle,—and a split in the organization. West claims the head of one party, and Mr. William Arcuthnot and Mr. D. C. Henderson heading the other. Both factions met at the Cooper House on Saturday evening—the Arcuthnot party above, and the West party below stairs. Each meeting was occupied chiefly in receiving and acting on mutual communications and protests, and in expelling each other from the "Workingmen's Committee." The matters had better come to an understanding with themselves, as well as with others, before election day, and, if anything, we think we may safely say the Union is not in danger.

Miscellaneous.

Augustus Shelley has been nominated by citizens of the Seventeenth Ward as the Anti Maine Law and Whig candidate for Congressman from the Forty-seventh District.

The Fifteenth Ward K. N. Council adjourned on Thursday evening to take part in the "Informal" demonstration in favor of the nomination of Stephen Brooks.

In the Wards not named no nominations have been made.

Republican Nomination.

The Republicans of the Eleventh Ward of Brooklyn have placed in nomination for Supervisor Edward Copland, for Alderman, True W. Rollins.

AFFAIRS IN KANSAS.

The Election of Delegate—Position of the Free State Men—The Crops, &c.

Special Correspondence of New-York Daily Times.

KANSAS, Sunday, Sept. 30, 1855.

TOMORROW is the day fixed by the Missouri-Kansas Legislature for the election of Delegate to Congress from Kansas, which has excited the great emigration movement I encountered to I rode in this place yesterday from Lawrence. In fact, all "border-ruffian" dom is astir. During the day I met some seventy or eighty Missourians en route for Lawrence, mostly on horseback, besides numerous covered wagons containing provisions for them during the election. Of course, the great majority will go out today; and it is no longer a doubt that the usual number of hundreds of invaders will, to-morrow, be on hand to poll their dishonest vote for WHITFIELD.

The Free-State men, you are advised, do not intend to vote at this election, for the reasons:

1. That they will not admit the legality of the legislation calling it.

2. That they will not perjure themselves by taking the required oath to sustain their iniquitous laws and the Fugitive Slave law; and

3. That they will no longer attempt to legislate under a Territorial Government, which can at any time be laid upon them from Missouri.

Hence, the people have called an election for the 9th instant, at which they will vote for Delegate to Congress, and Delegates to a Constitutional Convention, to meet on the fourth Monday of October at Topeka. And this being the case, I do not expect to hear of any knifing or plotting to-morrow; and I am the more sanguine in my hopes of peace, that the great majority of the marauders, at this time, contrary to the usual custom, wear a civil, pleasant and self-satisfied aspect, as of men who have wrought victory out from a desperate contest, and are now experiencing the delight of gratitude.

Neither party is idle. Gov. REEDER does not join in the canvass, though his opponent, WHITFIELD, is laboring without intermission, having placed himself square on the Pro-Slavery platform, and having received a "gift of tongues" in the way of bitter denunciation of all who do not bow the knee to his idol. His main auxiliary in this business—I shame to write it—is Gov. SHANNON! late a member of Congress, and not long since Governor of the Free-Soil State of Ohio! This official has actually accompanied WHITFIELD in a part of his canvass, and made speeches advocating his election! What will FRANKLIN PIERCE—the distinguished champion of literal constitutency and pacific in his appointees—say to this!

The Free-State men have divided their available forces into four parties, who canvass the four quarters of the Territory and speak on appointed days. Among those speakers are Col. LANE, late of Indiana; Gen. FOSKEY; Dr. WEBB, of Boston, (now lying ill in this place); Dr. ROBINSON; G. P. LOWRY, private Secretary to Gov. REEDER; M. F. CONWAY, and Messrs. HUTCHINSON and BRIGHT, of Lawrence.

I have just returned from a short tour into the Territory, and I am agreeably surprised to find more bona fide settlers than I had supposed, and the Free-State feeling unexpectedly strong. The towns are growing very well, though considerable ague has prevailed on the bottoms. Lawrence has several good buildings of stone nearly finished, among which is the fine new hotel built by the Emigrant Aid Company, and which will be opened some time this Fall by S. W. ELDRIDGE, Esq., the present popular landlord of the American Hotel in this place. At Council City, the American Settlement Company is building a good hotel, which likewise will soon be ready to accommodate the public. By the way, a silly attack on this town and the American Settlement Company has been made through the Herald of Freedom, whose editor, believing nothing to be good originating in New-York, has dressed up the mischievous gossip of certain enemies of the Company in an editorial article, which he begs all Eastern papers to copy. It is hardly necessary to say that his random and reckless assertions are all back.

The crops in the Territory the present season have more than justified the high opinions formed of its fertility. The corn, potatoes, &c., grow most luxuriantly. Frequent instances are found of corn on sod, without any culture but plowing and planting, producing forty to fifty bushels per acre,—a great yield for a sod crop. The melons, &c., are spoken of as the finest ever eaten. In fact, Kansas must become the agricultural State, par excellence, of the Union. LITERAL.

A Financiering Wood Sawyer Absquatulated.

Considerable excitement was occasioned a few days ago amongst the men employed in sawing and piling wood at the various Stations on the line of the Hudson River Railroad, in consequence of the cessation of the work having mysteriously disappeared for parts then unknown without squaring his accounts with them, amounting to several thousand dollars.

The fact having been satisfactorily ascertained by the Board of Directors, steps were immediately taken to mitigate in some measure the wrongs thus committed upon the poor employes, and although under no obligations to the latter, the Board resolved to pay the sufferers 50 cents on the dollar of their respective claims, of which they expressed their grateful acceptance.

News from Fort Riley.

From the St. Louis Republican.

Major STEEN, 2d United States Dragoons, arrived in this city yesterday from Fort Riley. Major STEEN reached Fort Riley a few days since in command of six companies United States Dragoons from Texas. The command was in excellent health, both after the arrival and during the march. They performed the whole march in about a month, although a much longer period was allotted to them for the service. A very large train of baggage wagons accompanied them, and all the animals, though kept in constant service, were in better order at the end of the march than at the commencement. Not a man nor an animal was lost.

The report delivered by this command from Fort Riley is in excellent one, and in no instance did we well defined that travelers to and from Texas can have no difficulty in procuring it. It has this additional advantage, that there is abundance of water. At no time did the command proceed more than twelve miles without delight.

Some way of difficulty occurs, we hear that ALVARES has money in embargo in our harbor. It is said that he has [illegible] two barks and two schooners, which are being quickly fitted out, and will soon sail for the Marion coast; they leave our harbor as peaceable merchantmen, and will not show themselves in their true colors until they reach there. An ex-post Captain of the French Navy has received the appointment of Admiral-in-Chief—one other Frenchman and two Americans, engineer, and twenty-five Know-Nothing mechanics. They intend to take Mazatlan first, then Guaymas and La Paz, which parades the coast of Santa Ana's adherents entirely.

On the way of business ships is not much doing, exception shipments of flour and grain to Australia and Valparaiso. It is a remarkable fact that we are now supplying the two great flour marts of the Pacific, Valparaiso and Australia. It seems like coals to Newcastle, but it is nevertheless true. Flour has been shipped [illegible] to Valparaiso that only came from there two months ago. At last accounts it was worth $12 there, and only $8 here. A desperate attempt was made to run the price up here, but the orders for purchase being limited in price, operate held off, and holders finally came to terms. The Star King and Sir Caroline are loading for Australia; also King Lear, all filling up rapidly. Ships are due yet to sail for Hong Kong. The Rosita Hood sailed to day for Shanghai, and the Inventor for Canton for Chinese. The Motor and S. F. Hoole are discharging their cargoes in very good order.

Our market is beautifully supplied with fruit, and prices are falling. We have most delicious grapes by the ship. The Sea Bird brought up 1,000 boxes the last trip from the coast below, and the Expedite as many more; the receipts at that rate being about 20 tons a month, or a ton a day. Apples and peaches are going down within reach of months, and are eaten more freely. Oregon apples have been selling at $15 per dozen, peaches do., but they are now down to from $1 50 to $2 for ordinary. A peach from Wm. Neely Thornton's Rancho weighed a pound. Old Jersey beat that! We still have strawberries, and in fact almost every kind of fruit now seen in the New-York market, and some from the Islands quite unknown in Gotham.

Dull as it may seem there has been no little doing lately. The Stockyard opens to-night with a new Company of old actors, under direction of LAURA KEENE, the lessee. Prices have at last been lowered to the proper standard—one dollar dress circle, and third tier fifty cents. The two-dollar era is past and gone. The Gottschalkites are playing at Sacramento to good houses, and do pretty well in the bogiest line. A few of the English boys have become constantly smitten with Jews, and have amused themselves by throwing hot bequets containing diamond pins, bracelets, &c. She very sensibly pocketed the effects. Madam Bishop and old Don Sarmiento are going at last, thank heaven—engaged passage in the Sir Corson—and all they are waiting for now is to make a series of the friends to pay their postages, to do which they will give another farewell, adieu, good-bye demonstration, which they will probably call a complimentary benefit," and if it be as the form any one shall all be glad, for they are miserably poor, and have proved beastly all their jewelry and small things. Bosisio is falling fast, and the old man is not likely to hold out much longer. He's been a good one in his day, but must succumb to old Father Time. McKEAN BUCHANAN, having been heralded by Japanese playwrights, which said he was coming, has come, and has commenced to heavy Tragedy, or will to-night. It is rather quiet about town this evening, and I have not heard of any Kitchen entertainment comparable upon this Island. We have had several people here before Mr. BUCHANAN arrived.—J. DODGER.

The Cholera on board the Uncle Sam on her passage from San Juan to San Francisco.

From the San Francisco Herald.

The following is a complete list of deaths that occurred on board the steamer Uncle Sam during her late passage from San Juan to this port. It will be observed that the ravages of the disease was confined almost entirely to the steerage passengers:

CREW.—Second Assistant Engineer, J. C. Rose; Assistant Carpenter, name unknown; Fireman, name unknown.

CABIN PASSENGERS.—Miss Cortland, Abraham Cortland, Rowland Craig, David Bannerhead, Mrs. Reed, child of R. C. Reed.

STEERAGE PASSENGERS.—John Farrell, W. Stanton, patent named Pellinger, M. Walkenberg, G. Lewis, E. Farrell, Mrs. Rice, George Derbyshire, Jacob Metzel, Mrs. Gomezy, child of Mrs. Stewart, child of Mrs. Kennedy, Thomas Gaffney, O. Coogin, Eliza Source, Charlotte M. Sherwood, William Wallace, John Degan, T. Kinsella, Michael Keegan, E. Turner, Ferdinand Gow, Alex Moore, H. Gallagher, J. Kopersling, M. Eil, Wm. Martin, John Kenedy, Henry Yager, Michael Kennedy, Bridget Kennedy, Mary Ann Kennedy, John Galligan, [illegible] of Mrs. Swan, Thomas Gwinnans, Bridget Whitage, Jacob Armer, Wm Oxton, Eliza Moker, R. Green, M. Mooney, H. Doyle, John Monegan, Hans Vert, Rachel Hutchings, Albert D. Camp, Patrick Burke, H. Hyal, M. Edersinger, Mrs. Lenzen, H. G. [illegible], M. Ambrosen, M. Shagenberg, A. Schaal, M. Miller, Mrs. Leonora White, child of Mrs. Hubbard. Total, 100; adults, 88; children, 12.

There were no new cases of sickness on board since Tuesday last. As soon as the vessel arrived at her wharf the agent of the line made every provision for the comfort of the sick, sixteen in number, and had them immediately removed to the Hospital. It is believed they will all recover.

From the same.

We are indebted to Messrs. WELLS, FARGO & Co.'s Messenger for the following particulars in regard to the sickness on board the Uncle Sam. He was through the cause ship several times each day, and thinks his knowledge of the number of deaths as correct as could well be. The disease was confined almost entirely to the steerage; there being but four or five deaths in the cabin. The number of deaths in both steerage and cabin he estimates not to vary too from one hundred, say two or three more than that number. He states that the hulk was perfectly healthy. No sickness occurred there. He noticed the steerage passengers eating freely of green plantains, bananas, and all the [illegible]

The [illegible] mentioned "citizens of the United States temporarily living at Simoda and Hakodadi," and provides for their safety and for their accommodation.

It remains to find out the meaning of "temporarily living." It is the custom in America and Europe for the citizens of one country to travel freely into other lands; they carry passports, which are papers, declaring who they are, these papers also request all Magistrates, Governors and Governments before whom they may come, to give them aid and protection in their travels.

When the people are apprehended for crimes or illegal deeds, they write to their Consul or Ambassador, who takes care that they are properly tried by legal tribunals; if guilty, they are punished by the laws, and if innocent, they are acquitted and free from all harm or ill-treatment or restraint.

These people, traveling for pleasure, or for learning, or for scientific purposes, reside temporarily where they choose. They hire houses, or build them, or live at hotels. Students from our country go to England, or to France, or to Germany, and study for many years at king's, Bonn study the laws, some study medicine, some study natural history, some literature. We have there hundreds of all nations, of all laws, of all languages, of all colors; some go abroad to study chemistry, some to study warfare, some to study the arts of peace. All these have, in a guarded security shown, bring to their country valuable information. In the same manner we import our knowledge as freely as we seek it.

Foreign citizens may have a temporary residence in our country as long as they please. So our citizens live temporarily in other countries as long as they please.

We have laws by which foreign citizens may become naturalized. It offers them advantages should they wish to remain in our country, but after naturalization they are no longer temporary residents, and cannot claim the protection of their former Governments. They become Americans by naturalization.

Our citizens temporarily living in Mexico, and carrying on trade there, or living quietly for their pleasure, were unjustly treated; for a long time we endeavored to obtain what the treaty allowed. The Mexican Government refused to listen to our remonstrances,—many cause occurred. At last, after fruitless attempts to obtain justice, we made war; took all their fortresses which opposed us; took their capital, the city of Mexico, and overran their country. The Mexicans supposed we would suffer them to ill-treat our temporary citizens; and thought because we were a very peaceable people that we would not punish them. Having overcome them we made peace.

The temporary residence mentioned in the treaty of Kanagawa, had reference. I think, on the part of the Government of the United States to temporary residence in Hakodadi and Simoda, such as exists elsewhere, with liberty to move within certain specified limits, and with the right to buy through the Government what they needed—and amenable only to just laws, but if the Government of Japan does not so understand it, their understanding is a fair subject of deliberation, and I am sure that from the high opinion which my Government has of the justice and friendship and kindness of his Imperial Majesty, the Emperor of Japan, his interpretation will receive the President's most earnest attention.

Now, it seems that the American gentlemen here have come to Japan upon a fair interpretation of the treaty as understood in the United States, and they have not wilfully done any wrong. I think that they have done what the treaty meant to allow them to do. The Japanese Government has a perfect right to think differently, but there are two parties to the treaty; two equal Governments have made the law. When the Governments have agreed as to the interpretation, it will then be plain what should be done. But now the United States cannot carry them away, until the Japanese Government compels—and the Japanese cannot send them away until it is agreed what the treaty means by temporary residence. Because both Governments are concerned, the matter is too high for either Government alone. The American's alone cannot interpret the treaty, neither can the Japanese alone. The Japanese Government can remonstrate with the American Government;—by remonstrance, I mean that his Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Japan may write to the President of the United States; or the Japanese highest officer for foreign affairs may write to the American Secretary of State, (who is our highest officer for foreign affairs;)—or his Excellency the Governor of Simoda may write to the American Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and say he writes by order of his Government.

When an officer has an opportunity of learning the opinion of his Government, he cannot write his own views; as if he does, it will not be regarded. But an officer like myself, who is so far away from his country, must write his own opinions, because he cannot receive orders upon the sudden things which happen:—I am required by my Government to do this.

In suffering these Americans to reside temporarily in Simoda or Hakodadi, it is plain that the Japanese Government cannot receive any harm. The people are too few; and if the Japanese Government remonstrates, then it cannot be brought into a precedent, because the Japanese Government says that it does not understand the treaty as we understand it, and they wish to have the meaning settled. After knowing the meaning, then can the Japanese send them away, if it is so decided.

When a treaty gives a thing, it gives everything which is necessary to the enjoyment of the thing given. If a person may live in a place, it is plain he must have a right to sleep and to eat; he must have a house, and provisions, and fuel. Thus, a permission to live at Simoda and Hakodadi must give all the means of living. If a permission has any meaning, it intends protection and permission to reside in houses and to buy food.

I think the wise way would be for the Governors of Simoda and Hakodadi to be patient, and to avoid rash deeds. The American Government is just and peaceable, and honorable as well as strong. Let them remonstrate in the name of their Government. I will send their paper to my Government, and the matter will be settled by the Emperor of Japan and the President of the United States. The Governors will avoid breaking the treaty before it is understood, and friendship will grow stronger and stronger.

If American vessels go to Simoda and Hakodadi, it is plain then they must have the things necessary for them, such as the Japanese do not use and cannot supply: chain cables and iron anchors, such as our large ships employ, are not made in Japan, and therefore the Japanese cannot supply them; cordage and salt provisions and bread, and tar, with many other things, are necessary to American vessels.

Let these Americans live quietly here or go to Hakodadi; let them do everything, which Americans think is in the treaty, remonstrate with the American Government, it will be time enough to get angry, and do things by force, after the remonstrance fails to receive attention. That the Americans thought they were right, is proved by their bringing their wives and children. They would not have brought them had they contemplated breaking the laws.

I am required by the Government of the United States to write to them everything which I do; to send copies of every writing which I may receive, and to report all my acts. By this time, I think the President of the United States knows of my letter to the Honorable Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Empire of Japan, for I sent it from Hong Kong before I came to Simoda. This letter, which I now write, is too important to be neglected. I shall send a copy of it from Hakodadi, and also a copy of the correspondence, which the American gentleman, temporarily residing in Japan, had the honor of holding with your Excellency.

My position and my necessity of reporting all I do, makes me careful in my acts, and scrupulous in what I write. What I have said is worthy of your Excellency's serious attention. I beg your Excellency to receive the assurance of my highest respect, and to believe me,

Sincerely your friend,

(Signed) JOHN RODGERS,

Commanding U. S. Surveying Expedition to the North Pacific Ocean.

To His Excellency the Governor of Simoda.

SIMODA, May 29, 1855.

To His Excellency the Governor of Hakodadi:

We have the honor to communicate with you, through Commodore Rogers, commanding the United States Surveying Expedition, and who visits your place to meet a part of his squadron, and also to survey and make a chart of your harbor. We are merchants on our way to your place, to make a temporary residence there, in order that we may receive and supply a certain number of our ships that are daily expected there. The supplies we intend to furnish are necessary, and cannot be furnished by the Japanese, for they have them not—such as chains and anchors, pork and beef, salts, tar and cordage, and ship chandlery generally. We have our families with us, and shall require or want a house for them to live in, and also a building to store our goods, for which we expect to pay a reasonable compensation or sum of money. We have been living here (at Simoda) for the past three months, awaiting the return of our vessel to take us to your place. When it returns, (and we expect it every day,) we shall leave this place for Hakodadi. On our arrival there, we trust your Excellency, in the absence of hotels and inns, will have selected a suitable place for our families to reside, and also to store our goods. Suffice us also to ask of your Honor to inform any of our ships which may arrive there before us that we are at this place, and expect soon to be at Hakodadi. Enclosed please find our card, stating our location, our business, our names, references, etc. We have the honor to remain, most respectfully, your obedient servants,

REED & DOUGHERTY.

U. S. SHIP VINCENNES,
HAKODADI, June 19, 1855.

GENTLEMEN: The Governor of Hakodadi has replied to my application for permission for you to reside on shore, in accordance with the stipulations of the treaty of Kanagawa, that the "temporary," used in the treaty means a short time—he thinks five or seven days, or at the utmost a few months. Unless I will consent to this definition, by asking for some short definite period, after which, you may sleep on shore a single night, I have replied that I dare not define temporary residence in other than the usual manner; that the two Governments, in their wisdom, preferred to give permission to "live temporarily" in Hakodadi; I would not so circumscribe the meaning of the treaty. I apprehend no difficulty in obtaining permission for any of you except Mr. Reed and family, to live for a few months in Hakodadi. But I must say how long you may remain. After the time expires, the Japanese will consider that you commence to live permanently. Permanent residence is not in the treaty; they will then have a right to send you away. I have been officially informed of the fact, and I therefore say to you officially, that the Government of Japan will not suffer you to sleep a single night on shore. When I spoke to Governor [illegible] upon the subject, he replied that he [illegible] by the Commander. It's a, or government, if you, sir, the president to pay a few days, it will be grateful. You will be cast away when the time expires for which they have granted the permission.

I do not consider that the refusal would be any more positive were you brought from shore by the police. No American citizen is expected to expound generally against a treaty. Our country separated our last quarrels. If the Government of the United States decided that the treaty has been broken to your prejudice, I believe it will demand the proper redress for you. Should the Government decide that the Japanese are right, your coming here was rash.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN RODGERS,
Commanding U. S. Surveying Expedition to North Pacific Ocean, &c.

To Messrs. W. C. REED and family, T. C. DOUGHERTY, EDWARD A. EDGERTON, HORACE W. PEABODY, WM. E. BIDLEMAN.

HAKODADI, June 19, 1855.

SIR: Having placed in your possession the correspondence had between ourselves and the Japanese authorities at Simoda, and also informed you of our intention to remove from that place soon, and establish ourselves at Hakodadi, we placed ourselves under your protection, and have relied upon your superior judgment and tact in gaining a residence for us here. In the correspondence received this day from you upon this subject we learn that upon no condition whatever are we to be permitted to reside on shore, and we must therefore abide your better judgment and leave without making an effort within ourselves so to do, or without, by actually trying to go on shore, and thereby tempting the Japanese to use violence to our family and ourselves.

Your statement, corroborated by Captain STEVENS, and also by the oath of Mr. LUDOLPH, your interpreter in the matter, cannot fail to convince our Government of the proper means used to obtain a residence here under the fourth (4th) and fifth (5th) article of the treaty of Kanagawa, and of their utter refusal to carry out the provisions of said articles.

Now, therefore, having placed ourselves under your direction, and as American citizens relying upon our flag's protection, we submit to your decision without making further personal efforts to land. But while we submit to this indignity, this most humiliating and degrading thwart of the Japanese Government, this bar to our commercial transactions, to carry out which we have invested all our resources—have perilled the lives of our family, and suffered many inconveniences—and failing, may incur damages far beyond our means to liquidate.

Therefore, we do solemnly protest against the action of the Japanese Government and their right to refuse us a quiet temporary residence on their shores, and of embarrassing our transactions, and will hold our Government responsible for all damages arising from this refusal, and claim this to be to all intents and purposes our protest against the Japanese Government reserving to ourselves the right of extending this protest at any future time and place. We have the honor to be, Sir, with great respect, your obedient servants,

REED & DOUGHERTY.

To JOHN RODGERS, Commanding U. S. Surveying Expedition to North Pacific Ocean, etc.

U. S. SHIP VINCENNES, HAKODADI, June 25, 1855.

GENTLEMEN: I am afraid that my intervention in behalf of the American citizens who came here to reside temporarily under the treaty of Kanagawa may at first appear inhospitable. The Governors of this place and of Simoda are mere agents, and do not, I am sure, act upon their own responsibility. To have effected my wishes, I should have been obliged to go to Jedo, and to appeal to the fears of the Emperor. It was not admissible for any more casual man-of-war to expound without instructions, an interpretation of a formal treaty, at the cannon's mouth. The question which you have raised is one affecting vitally the policy of the two nations. I have no instruction from the Government. I think it would be easy to take Hakodadi with the forces at my command; but they were not confided for such a purpose, except to redress personal ill-treatment of my countrymen.

I have told the Government of the city, that I should send armed men on shore if certain rudenesses, which were personal wrongs, were persisted in; but the interpretation of the treaty belongs to the Governments. This is a public wrong, not merely a private one. I think you have been ill-treated; and through you, and to your loss, has been shown that valuable results may not be expected from the treaty. Wood, water and shelter for ships are all that we may hope from the Japanese resulting of it. I am American enough to think, that in referring your case to the Government of the United States, I confide you to safe hands. I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

JOHN RODGERS,
Commanding U. S. Surveying Expedition to the North Pacific Ocean.

To the American Citizens in Hakodadi.

INTERESTING FROM CHINA.

We have Hong Kong dates to July 11, though not so late as telegraphic advices received via Europe. They furnish us with details of news not previously published.

Russian Privateers.

The Hong Kong Register mentions a report of two Russian privateers, supposed to have been American clippers purchased in California, having been seen off that port. The news has not yet got beyond a report.

French and English Ships-of-War.

The English frigate Nankin reached Hong Kong July 7, ten days from Singapore. The Nankin is said to be a splendid new frigate, intended to reinforce the China fleet. On the 26th of June, the French frigate Virginie, with the new French Admiral, GUERIN, on board, sailed from Singapore for China. Admiral GUERIN relieves Admiral LA GUERRE as Commander-in-Chief of the French naval forces in China and the East Indies.

Accident to the Powhatan.

The United States steam frigate Powhatan left Whampoa in a great hurry the other day, says the Hong Kong Gazette, for the purpose of proceeding to Fuchow, where matters have looked curious lately. When within three or four miles of this anchorage, the rod of the air pump of the starboard engine broke and drove the bucket through the bottom of the pump; the disarrangement of the machinery consequent on the accident damaging the connecting rod, air pump beams, and rock shaft so badly that not less than a couple of months will be required for repairs. The accident has been an unfortunate one for Captain MCCLUNEY, whose perquisite on treasure up would have been a large sum.

Successes of the Revolutionists.

The Pekin journals received since last dispatch hence, report unfavorably of the patriot cause in the north of China. We have no means, says the Hong-Kong Gazette, of ratifying these reports. We can only depend on the truth of war advices in that journal, when the reverse of success is admitted by the editor. In that case we may safely estimate such reverse at about a tithe of its reality—reverses would never be reported but for their glaring extent. Report of imperial success must be measured by the same standard. One thing is worthy of remark, that for many months not a word has been published at Pekin of the aspect of affairs in the South. Let us see, now that matters have varied somewhat, whether equal silence will be maintained. The amount of bloodshed at Canton during the last month has been sickening. When Shaouking, the second city of the province, was vacated without fighting a short time ago, a number of the inhabitants thought mercy would be shown to them if they gave themselves up. With equal reason might forbearance have been expected from the hungry wolf—they were taken to Canton in droves of five hundred; as many as ten thousand, it is said, being confined in the city at one time. Kept without food for several days, when the hour of examination, so called, arrived, eye witnesses tell of the utmost callousness being exhibited; the condemned getting into the execution basket with even apparent satisfaction.

At the rate of seven and eight hundred a day for some time, the whole ten thousand, and thousands more, were soon got rid of. Several were skinned alive, and one higher criminal than the rest was cut in twenty-four pieces—lingering dying. From the careless way in which the bodies are interred in heaps at the eastward of the city, and the disgusting stench in the vicinity of the execution ground, it will not surprise us to hear of a plague carrying off its victims by thousands. Extending to the foreign factories, that vaccination which prudence dictated when the Rebels invested the city, will then become master of necessity. We would commend this matter to the attention of Her Majesty's Plenipotentiary here. We do not write for the purpose of frightening—we but report facts—the public must draw their own inferences.

Tea.

From the circular of the Canton Chamber of Commerce, says the Hong-Kong Gazette, we learn that several more chops of last season's Congou and other teas have arrived; the Congus (Congmu) are considerably injured by their long detention in transit. "No teas, the growth of the present season, have arrived as yet," says the Secretary, "and it would now appear extremely doubtful if we shall receive any at all." In Canton, imports (excluding rice) of the value of about a lakh and a half of dollars, has changed hands during past month, two-thirds of which amount may be noted for cotton, cotton piece-goods, and American drills.

The North China Herald tells of an export from Shanghai to the end of June, of full 26,000,000 pounds of tea more than was exported to Great Britain and the United States for a similar period the year before. From Canton, we have to tell of 40,500,000 pounds less exported to those parts for the year ending with June; say 37,500,000 of pounds this year, against 78,000,000 of the year previous—being more than a half of short export. So much for the result of opinions put forth by local cotemporaries as regarded the prospective magnitude of the insurrection last year, and its problematical effect on trade. Silk shipments from Canton to Great Britain between 30th of June, 1854, and 1st of July, 1855, have been about one-sixth less than they were the year previous.

☞ The Treasurer of the Mass. Medical Society, announced, at the last meeting, that he had received the sum of one hundred dollars from a member of the Society, for a prize for 1857, on conditions similar to those of 1856—on the following theme:—"We would regard every approach towards the rational and successful prevention and management of disease, without the necessity of drugs, to be an advance in favor of humanity and scientific medicine."

The Great Speech of Wm. H. Seward, at the Republican Demonstration in Albany.

The following is the conclusion of Hon. W. H. SEWARD's speech at the Republican meeting in Albany, which did not reach the City in time for our Saturday's morning edition.

The success of the privileged class in securing to themselves immediate possession of Missouri and Arkansas in exchange for the sovereignty interest of the unprivileged class in the remainder of the Louisiana purchase, stimulated them to move for new national purchases of domain, which might yield their further acquisitions. Spain was unable to retain longer the slave-holding provinces of East Florida and West Florida which lay adjacent to the Slave States. They fell to the United States by an easy purchase, and the privileged class with due diligence procured their organization as a State and its admission into the Union. The spell of Territorial aggrandizement had fallen on the United States of America, and simultaneously the spell of dissolution had fallen on the United States of Mexico. The privileged class on our side of the border entered Texas, established Slavery there in violation of Mexican laws, detached that Territory from Mexico, and organized it as an Independent Sovereign State. Texas, thus independent and sovereign, sought annexation to the United States. In the very hour when the virtue of a sufficient number of the unprivileged classes was giving way to effect a constitutional annexation of Texas, the President of the United States, with a Senate not less subservient to the privileged class, executed a coup d'état by which that State unlawfully, and in defiance of all precedent, came into the Union under a covenant stipulating that four new Slave States might be created out of its territory and admitted as Slave States, while, by a solemn mockery, an inconsiderable fragment that lay north of 36° 30' was ostentatiously dedicated to freedom. There remained no other new territory within the United States, and so by this strange partition of Texas there was a third final settlement of the pretensions of the privileged class: and it was acquiesced in by the unprivileged class who thought themselves secure in the old northwest territory by the Ordinance of 1787, and equally safe in Kansas and Nebraska by the Missouri Compromise.

The public repose that followed the annexation of Texas was of short duration. Mexico resented that offence. A war ensued and terminated in the transfer of the entire northern portions of Mexico to the United States. The Mexican municipal laws forbade Slavery everywhere, and the new possessions were under that law. Not a whit the less for that reason did the privileged class demand either an equal partition, or that the whole should be opened to their colonization with Slaves. The House of Representatives resisted these pretensions, as it had resisted similar ones before; but the Senate seconded the privileged class with its accustomed zeal. So Congress was divided and failed to organize civil Governments for the newly acquired Mexican Territories, and they were left under martial law. The question raised by the privileged class went down to the electors. The people promptly filled the House of Representatives with a majority sternly opposed to the extension of Slavery, the breadth of a single square mile. They increased the force of the unprivileged class in the Senate, while they called to the Presidency General TAYLOR, who, although himself a slaveholder, was committed to non-intervention on the question in Congress and to execute faithfully whatever Constitutional laws Congress should adopt. Under these circumstances California and New-Mexico, youthful communities, practically free from Slavery and uncorrupted by the seductions of the privileged class or of its political organs, hastened to establish Constitutions and apply for admission as Free States, while the eccentric population Deseret, indulging in outdidings principles especially in matters of religion and politics prayed to be received into the Union as a State or as a Territory, and with or without Slavery, as Congress should prescribe. The privileged class remonstrated, and a seditious movement was organized in their behalf in the Slaveholding States to overawe Congress if possible, and to inaugurate revolution if their menaces failed. You all know well the way of that memorable controversy. How eminent men yielded to the menaces without waiting for the revolution, and projected and tendered to the privileged class a new compromise, modeling after the already time-honored Compromise of 1820. You all know how firmly, notwithstanding this defection of leaders, honored and beloved, the House of Representatives and even the Senate repelled the Compromise, and how firmly the unprivileged class of freemen throughout the Union demanded the unqualified and unconditional admission of California into the Union, and refused to allow any further territories to the privileged class for the extension of the system of human bondage. You all remember, too, how in a critical hour the President sickened and died, and how the hearts of Congress and of all the people sorrowed at his grave, and thenceforward all was lost. You remember how the provisional successor of that lamented President, with ominous haste, accepted the resignation of his Cabinet and committed the seals to a new one, pledged like himself to the adoption of the Compromise, which the people had condemned, and how, at last, after a painful struggle, its adoption was effected. I think, too, that you have not than forgotten the terms of that Compromise, the fourth final and everlasting settlement of the conflict between the privileged and the unprivileged classes of this Republic. You have not forgotten how the ordinance of 1787, which excluded Slavery from the region northwest of the Ohio, was left to stand as an institution too sacred to be even questioned. How the Missouri Compromise which extended that ordinance across the Mississippi, and over all Kansas and Nebraska, was made at once the authority, precedent and formula of the new Compromise, and even declared to be an irrepealable law forever. How California, which refused to become a Slave State, was grudgingly admitted into the Union as a Free one. How the hateful and detestable slave auctions were banished from the eaves of the Capitol, quite across to the opposite bank of the Potomac River. And how in consideration of these magnanimous and vast concessions made by the privileged class, it was stipulated, that Slavery should be continued in the District of Columbia as long as the privileged class should require its continuance. New-Mexico, with her Free Constitution, was superciliously remanded to her native mountains, while, without a hearing, her ancient and free Territory was dismembered, and its fairest part transferred to Texas, with the addition of ten millions of dollars, to win its acceptance by that defiant privileged State, you remember how it was solemnly stipulated that Utah and New-Mexico, if the slaveholders could corrupt them, should come into the Union, in due time, Slaveholding States, and, finally, how the privileged class, so highly offended and exasperated, were brought to accept this compromise on their part, by a redenactment of the then obsolete Fugitive Slave law of 1793, with the addition of the revolting features of an attempted suspension of the habeas corpus, an absolute prohibition of the trial by Jury, an effective repeal of vital rules of procedure and evidence, and the substitution of Commissioners in place of Courts of Justice in derogation of the Constitution. You all remember how laboriously and ostentatiously this Compromise was associated with the time-honored forms and solemnities of the Missouri Compromise. How it was declared not the result of mere ordinary legislation, but a contract with mutual equivalents by the privileged with the unprivileged classes, irrepealable and even unmendable without perfidy, and even treason against the Constitution and the Union. You all remember how, notwithstanding your protests and mine, it was urgently, violently, clamorously ratified and confirmed, as a full, fair, and final and perpetual adjustment by the two great political conventions of the country, representing the whole people of the United States, and at Baltimore in 1852; and how the heroic and generous SCOTT was rejected to bring into the Presidency one who might more safely be trusted to defend and preserve and establish it forever.

Nevertheless scarcely one year had elapsed before the privileged class, using some of our own representatives as their instruments, broke up not only this Compromise of 1850, but even the Compromise of 1820, and the Ordinance of 1787, and obtained the declaration of Congress that all these settlements so far as they were adverse to the privileged class, were unconstitutional usurpations of legislative power.

I do not stop to stigmatize or even to characterize these aggressions. Of what use would it be to charge perfidy, when the losses we deplore have resulted from our own imbecility and cowardice. I do not dwell as others so often and so justly do upon the atrocious usurpation of the government of Kansas by the slaveholders of Missouri, nor even on the barbarous and tyrannical code which they have established to stifle freedom in that Territory, nor even yet on the fraudulent and nefarious connivance of the President with the usurpers. Nor will I draw into this picture, already too darkly shaded, the personal humiliations which daily come home to yourselves in the conduct of your own affairs. You are commanded by an unconstitutional law of Congress to seize and deliver up to the members of that privileged class their fugitive Slaves, under pain of imprisonment, and forfeiture of your estates. You may not interpose between the armed Slaveholder and the wounded Slave, to prevent his being murdered, without coming under arrest for treason, nor may you cover his naked and lacerated limbs except by stealth. You have fought twenty years, and with but partial success, for the constitutional right to lay your remonstrances on the table of Congress. You may not tell the freed Slave who reaches your borders that he is free, without being seized by a Federal Court, and condemned, without a trial, or even an accusation; to an imprisonment without bail or mainprise, and without limitation of sentence. Your representatives in either House of Congress must speak with bated breath and humbled countenance in presence of the representatives of the privileged class, lest justice be denied to your old soldiers when they claim their pensions, or to your laborers when they claim the performance of their contracts with the Government. The President of the United States is reduced to the position of a deputy of the privileged class, emptying the treasury and marshaling battalions and ships of war to dragoon you into the execution of the Fugitive Slave Law on the one hand, while he removes Governors and Judges at their command who attempt to maintain lawful and constitutional resistance against them in the Territory of Kansas. The Vice President of the United States and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, are safe men whom the privileged class can trust in every case. The core of the Judiciary of the Territories, and even of the Foreign Relations, is intrusted in either House to assured supporters of that class. Protection is denied to your wool while it is freely given to the Slaveholders' sugar. Millions of acres of the public domain are freely given to Alabama for railroads and even as gratuities, while not a dollar can be obtained to remove the rocks of Hellgate and the sands of the Overslaugh, or the bars in Lake St. Clair, or in the mouths of your Lake Harbors. Canada, lying all along your northern borders, must not even be looked upon lest you may lust after it, while millions upon millions are lavished [illegible] America, Free Slavery of course, where [illegible] Free Labor, and the Slave purchaser, free on the plantations of the privileged class, on the contrary. Despotic rule, the Nation's law, the Union's law, [illegible] not only in name and in war, but despotic defiance given them in foreign ports. Judges of the United States Courts, sole under the protection of the President and the Senate, charge Grand Juries in advance of any question, that vexatious and unequal Federal laws are constitutional and obligatory; they give consent to legislative bodies long to frame laws which they will sustain, instead of waiting to review those laws when enacted. They even convert the Writ of Freedom into an engine of slavery, and they pervert the power of punishing irregularities committed in their process into the machinery of a tyranny to offend up that of the Star Chamber. The privileged class in Virginia imprisons your seamen in their ports in retaliation for the independence of your Executive authorities; and you are already in a doubtful struggle for the right to extinate the traffic of slaves from your own borders.

I will only ask, in concluding this humiliating rehearsal, whether there is not in this privileged country a privileged class; whether it does not stand on an enduring foundation; whether it is not growing stronger and stronger, while the unprivileged class grows weaker and weaker; whether its further growth and extent would not be not merely detrimental but dangerous; and whether there is any hope to arrest that growth and extension hereafter, if the attempt shall not be made now!

The change that has become at last so necessary is as easy to be made as it is necessary. The whole number of Slaveholders is only 350,000, one hundredth part of the entire population of the country. If you add their parents, children, immediate relatives and dependents, they are two millions—one fifteenth part of the American People. Slavery is not and never can be perpetual. It will be overthrown either peacefully and lawfully under this Constitution, or it will work the subversion of the Constitution on together with its own overthrow. Then the Slaveholders would perish in the struggle. The change can now be made without violence, and by the agency of the ballot box. The temper of the nation is just, liberal, forbearing. It will contribute any money and endure any sacrifices to effect this great and important change—indeed it is half made already. The House of Representatives is already yours as it always must be when you choose to have it. The Senate of the United States is equally within your power if you only will persistently, for two years, to have it. Notwithstanding all the wrong that has been done, not another Slave State can now come into the Union. Make only one year's constant, decisive effort, and you can determine what States shall be admitted.

The will exists; seconded the time has become intolerable, and the necessity of a remedy is universally acknowledged. What then is wanted? Organization? Organization! Shall we organize? Why not? Can we maintain the revolution so auspiciously begun without organization? Certainly not. Are you apprehensive of failure because the revolution is not everywhere and at all times equally successful? Was there ever a revolution that was equally successful at all times and everywhere? Certainly not. Do you say that you cannot abolish Slavery in the privileged States? We have no need, no purpose, no constitutional power, no duty to do so. Providence has devolved that duty on others, and the organic law leaves it wisely to them. We have power to avert the extension of Slavery in the Territories of the Union, and that is enough. Do you doubt that power? Did not the statesmen of 1787 know the bounds of constitutional power? Somebody has municipal power on the unorganized Territories in the Union. Who is it? It is not any foreign State, it is not any of the American States, it is not the people of the Territories, it is the Congress of the whole United States and their power there is supreme. Are you afraid that the privileged class will not submit? The privileged class are human and they are wise. They know just as well how to submit to just authority firmly and constitutionally exercised as they do how to extort unequal concessions by terror from timid men. Can the privileged class live without a Union say better than you can? They would not remain and wrangle with you an hour if they could do so. Can they ever hope to obtain another Union so favorable to them as this one, if this should be overthrown? Will they destroy themselves that they may simply do harm to you? Did ever any privileged class commit such an absurd suicide as this? Are you alone the keepers of the Union? Have not the privileged class interests as great to maintain in the Union, and are their obligations to maintain it different from your own?

How shall we organize? The evil is a natural one. The power and the influence and the organization of the privileged class pervade all parts of the Union. It knows no North, no South, no East, no West. It is stronger to-day on the Bay of San Francisco, surrounded by freemen, than it is on Chesapeake Bay surrounded by slaves. It is not a sectional but a national contest on which we have entered. Our organization, therefore, must be a national one. The means of success are national. We must restore the demoralized virtue of the Nation. We must restore the principle of equality among the members of the State—the principle of the sacredness of the absolute and inherent Rights of Man. We want, then, an organization open to all classes of men and that excludes none.

We want a bold, out-spoken, free-spoken organization, one that openly proclaims its principles, its purposes and its objects—in fear of God and not of man—like that army which CROMWELL led, that established the Commonwealth of England. This is the organization we want.

It is best to take an existing organization that answers to these conditions if we can find one; if we cannot find one such, we must create one. Let us try existing parties by this test. Shall we take the Know-Nothing Party, or the American Party, as it now more ambitiously names itself? It is a purely sectional organization. In the privileged States it scouts the principle of the equality of man, and justifies the unbounded claim of the privileged class. In the unprivileged States it stifles its voice and suppresses your own free speech, lest it may be overheard beyond the Potomac. In the privileged States it justifies all the wrongs committed against you. In the unprivileged States it affects to condemn them, but protests they shall be redressed. I speak not now of its false and provocating rituals, its unlawful and unchristian oaths, its clandestine Councils and its dark conspiracies, its mobs and its murders, proscribing and slaying men for their conscience' sake, and for the sake of their nativity. I have spoken of them often enough and freely enough heretofore. I say now only that all these, equally with this so-called American Party for any national duty, and qualify it to be, what it has thus far been, an auxiliary Swiss Corps, engaging the friends of freedom in premature skirmishes at one time, and decoying them into ambushes prepared by their enemies at another. Let it pass by.

Shall we unite with the Democratic Party? If so, to which section or faction? The Hards, who are so stern in defending the aggressions of the privileged class, and in rebuking the Administration through whose agency they are committed? Or the Softs that protest against these aggressions, while they sustain and invigorate that Administration? Shall we suppose the Democratic Party re-united and consolidated? What is it then but the same party which has led in the commission of all these aggressions, save one, and which urged, counselled and co-operated in that, and claims, exclusively, the political benefits resulting from it? Let the Democratic Party pass.

Shall we report ourselves to the Whig Party? Where is it? Gentle Shepherds, tell me where! Four years ago it was a strong and vigorous party, honorable for energy, noble achievements, and still more for noble enterprises. In 1852 it was invited and consolidated, and moved by panic and fears to emulate the Democratic Party in its practiced subservicey to the privileged class, and it yielded in spite of your remonstrances and mine. The privileged class who have debauched it, abandoned it, because they know that it could not vie with its rival in the humiliating service it proffered them, and now there is neither Whig Party nor Whig south of the Potomac.

How is it in the unprivileged States? Out of New-York, the lovers of freedom, disgusted, with its prostitution, forsook it and marched into any and every other organization. We have maintained it here, and in its purity, until the elders and abettors of the privileged classes, in retaliation, have wounded it on all sides, and it is now manifestly no longer able to maintain and carry forward, alone and unaided, the great revolution that it inaugurated. He is unfit for a statesman, although he may be a patriot, who will cling even to an honored and faithful association, when it is reduced so low in strength and numbers as to be entirely ineffectual, amid the contests of great parties by which republics are saved. Any party, when reduced so low, must ultimately dwindle and dwarf into a mere faction. Let then the Whig Party pass. It committed a grievous fault, and grievously hath it answered it. Let it march out of the field, therefore, with all the honors.

The principle of true Democrats and the principles of true Whigs remain throughout all changes of parties and of men, and so far as they are sound, they are necessarily the same. Such true Democrats and true Whigs are now ready to unite on those sound principles common to both. Neither of these two classes can or ought to insist on forcing a defective organization, with a stained banner, upon the other. The Republican Organization has sagaciously seen this, and magnanimously laid a new, sound and liberal platform, broad enough for both classes to stand upon. Its principles are equal and exact justice; its speech open, decided and frank. Its banner is unstarn in former battles and unsullied by past errors. That is the party for us. I do not know that it will always, or even long, preserve its courage, its moderation, and its consistency. If it shall do so, it will rescue and save the country. If it, too, shall become unfaithful, as all preceding parties have done, it will, without sorrow or regret on my part, perish as they are perishing, and will give place to another, truer and better one.

So long as the Republican Party shall be firm and faithful to the Constitution, the Union and the Rights of Man, I shall serve it, with the reservation of personal independence, which is my birth right, but at the same time with the zeal and devotion that patriotism allows and enjoins. I do not know, and personally I do not greatly care, that it shall work out its great ends this year or the next, or in my lifetime; because I know that those ends are ultimately sure, and that time and trial are the elements which make all great reformations sure and lasting. I have not thus far lived for personal ends or temporary fame, and I shall not begin so late to live or labor for them. I have hoped that I might leave my country somewhat worthier of a better destiny, and the rights of human nature somewhat safer. A reasonable ambition must always be satisfied with sincere and practical endeavors. If among those who shall come after us there shall be any curious inquirer who shall fall upon a name so obscure as mine, he shall be obliged to confess that however unsuccessfully I labored for generous ends, yet that I nevertheless was faithful.

INDUSTRY.

Another Element at the Fair.

The wheels begin to run glibly, the joints to work smoothly, the paint to dry, and the oil spots to disappear at the Crystal Palace. After the lapse of a day or two more, the Fair will be in presentable shape. Enthusiastic amateurs have thus far been very few, for the simple reason that there was little result up on visitation. Dirty workmen have jostled elegantly dressed women in unpleasant fashion; machinists in a hurry have let fall heavy bars of iron on your toes; your best garment has been spoiled by the leakage from the shanting. Many disagreeable things have happened, and not the least of them was the fact that the Managers will persist in opening their Exhibitions too soon. It is quite impossible to arrive at any distinct idea of the contents of an immense deal box, if there is no indication that it was made to open. Form and comeliness have been of slow growth; but the Fair now really begins to show up handsomely. We find a number of articles on exhibition which deserve mention.

The spacious area of the Palace is better adapted to the display of goods than Castle Garden ever was, even after its enlargement. The form of the building permits a suitable classification of articles entered, and there is no excuse for delay, upon the plea that space cannot be procured. The North Nave is given up this year to the Dry Goods department, in which the contributions are more meagre than usual. Some cloths of excellent quality are exhibited. Prints are few in quantity, but good in texture. Linens are quite deficient; and the fact is remarkable from the fact that these Fairs have lately been famous for displays of this fabric; exhibitors having been incited to active competition by the Linen Premiums established some years since.

The department of Machinery is coming gradually into play. The motive power was up and ready some days ago, but the machines are only partially erected.—Screws, bolts, wrenches, wheels, levers, cranks and oil-cranks render locomotion in the Machine Arcade a tolerably perilous undertaking. We note two or three articles of utility, which will be likely to attract the attention of visitors.

GAS ENGINE.

A Gas Engine, of twenty-five horse power, promises to be attractive. It is the first machine of the kind that has been exhibited, but is not yet in operation. The inventor is a Philadelphia physician, and this engine is his first public experiment; a smaller one has been used, and appears to have succeeded sufficiently well to justify a more serious undertaking. It is known on the catalogue as the Ignition Engine; the name being descriptive of a peculiar method of igniting or firing mixed gases in the cylinder. The invention dates back to the year 1838,—then a small engine was constructed that did not work well till 1841. In 1849, having been further improved, it was privately exhibited in New-York and Philadelphia. The principle is simple; the fuel is used in a gaseous state in the cylinder; separate heaters, furnaces and smokepipes are dispensed with; a mixture of explosive gases, when exponded by ignition, produces a pressure of one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch; and the whole force of the expansion is claimed to be available. The general arrangements and exterior resemble those of the ordinary steam engine. The igniting apparatus consists of a metal cylindrical box with a shoulder, passing by a screw into the cylinder; a second piece of metal enters the first piece, and this is entered by a third, which latter instrument is the igniter,—a hollow, thimble-shaped iron casting, 2½ inches long, ¾ inch internal diameter and 1-16 inch in thickness. A blowpipe is admitted through the top of the igniter. All these pipes are terminal of a tube which brings the mixed air and gas from a reservoir, supplied first by an air pump, and afterward by the engine itself. This machine is novel, and will attract attention, because it points to a new application of motive power, bearing no very distant relation to the principle so earnestly insisted upon by Captain Ericsson.

A DELICATE SCALE.

The display of scales, platforms and balances, is remarkably good. There is a large Hay Scale, capable of weighing loads of twelve thousand pounds, which was turned in our presence by the weight of a watch. The adjustment was perfect. The same parties exhibit a tiny scale, which weighs down to the thousandth part of an ounce. It is of very delicate workmanship, is enclosed in a glass case, and can hardly be made to adjust itself evenly, because of its susceptibility to the jar of the building. The next peculiar style of scale is one fitted for rolling-mills, with an iron platform; and there is, besides these, another

RAYMOND, HARPER, & CO.

The News by the Northern Light.

By the arrival of the steamship Northern Light, we have received our usual files of California papers to the 20th, and Oregon papers to the 10th ultimo. The political news is important. On the 5th of September the elections passed off without any untoward excitement or outbreak, and resulted in the unexpected but complete triumph of the Know-Nothing party. The whole State ticket was elected, with a majority of one or three in the Senate, and about twenty in the Assembly. J. NEELY JOHNSON, K. N., defeated BIGLER, the Democratic candidate for Governor, by a majority of from four to five thousand. The returns of the vote on the Prohibitory Liquor question were not complete at the time the steamer left, and it was not known, therefore, whether the law was or was not adopted.

The most frightful mortality occurred on board the Nicaragua steamer Uncle Sam during her last passage from San Juan to San Francisco, which port she reached on the 14th of September. The cholera broke out with fearful violence, and before the vessel arrived at San Francisco, one hundred and twenty persons had died of this cruel disease. The passengers, for whose alarm, perhaps, some allowances must be made, assert that instead of one hundred and twenty, there were two hundred deaths. Besides this awful mortality, seven others had subsequently died in the hospitals.

We have to report three more destructive conflagrations. One occurred in Marysville on the 9th ult.; another in Weaverville, Trinity Co., at which fifty houses were burnt, with a loss of $200,000; and another at Grass Valley, where three hundred buildings were destroyed, and the loss estimated at $350,000.

The San Francisco Herald has a paragraph stating that many of the passengers by the steamer of the 20th left for the purpose of joining WALKER at San Juan, to enlist for the war under his banner.

From Oregon we learn that the Colville gold excitement had rather subsided. A rumor was current in Portland that Governor STEVENS had been massacred by a company of Blackfeet Indians. Our correspondent, however, thinks that the report needs confirmation, as it undoubtedly does.

The news from the Sandwich Islands is interesting. An extraordinary session of the Legislature had been convoked, had passed a bill of appropriations amounting to $437,000, and was shortly after prorogued. VICTORIA, of England, and KAMEHAMEHA, King of all the Sandwich Islands, have been expressing friendly sentiments towards each other, in strict accordance with the most approved fashion of royal correspondence. Their letters are quite funny. A project is on foot to erect a monument to the memory of the late King.

From Central America we learn that Gov. KINNEY had already resigned his governorship, and that a meeting had been called for a new election.

Violation of Treaty by the Japanese.

We publish in another part of this morning's issue, a budget of interesting and important news from Japan. It would seem that the treaty recently entered into between the United States and Japanese Governments has been practically repudiated by the latter. In a letter to the San Francisco Herald, Messrs. REED and DOUGHERTY—American merchants, who intended establishing themselves at Hakodadi, in Japan, with the object of provisioning whaling vessels—complain that the Japanese have violated the spirit and letter of the treaty in every particular, and their statements are not without corroboration. They, with other Americans, reached Simoda, Island of Niphon, Japan, in the early part of the year, and during a residence there of two or three days were forced to submit to a most tyrannical and insulting kind of surveillance. They were compelled to go on board their ship at sun-down, and when on shore, were perseveringly followed and watched by officers, as if they had been criminals under arrest. From personal violence, however, they were luckily preserved by the appearance in port of Commodore ROGERS, who espoused their cause and re-resented their grievances to the Governor of Simoda, but apparently without obtaining any redress. Messrs. REED and DOUGHERTY then sailed for Hakodadi, but here they were not permitted to land at all, in direct contravention of the treaty. The Japanese authorities attempt to justify this singular conduct by asserting that the treaty only permits Americans to reside temporarily in the country, which, according to their interpretation, means a period of four or five days. Messrs. REED and DOUGHERTY, they say, intended to take up their residence permanently at Hadokadi, and hence their action in the matter. We have published the whole correspondence on the subject, and it will repay perusal. The question will doubtless be taken up by our Government, thoroughly sifted, and, I hold so, the rights and interests of our fellow-citizens in Japanese territory will be protected.

The British treaty with Japan is said to be in the possession of Admiral Sir JAMES STRONG. Russia has also concluded a treaty, and France, it is said, is attempting to negotiate one.

From China.

By way of San Francisco we have late and interesting news from China. The imperialists continued to butcher their unfortunate prisoners with the most unrelenting ferocity. Among the thousands who perished in Canton on the scaffold, says the Hong-Kong Gazette, several were skinned alive, and one higher criminal than the rest was cut in twenty-four pieces—lingering, dying.

The North China Herald states that the export of tea from Shanghai to the end of June is twenty-six millions of pounds more than was exported to Great Britain and the United States for a similar period the year before. On the other hand the reports from Canton are that the exportation of tea during the same time is minus some forty millions of pounds. It would appear from this that the calculations of Chinese newspapers are not always the most accurate.

The United States steam frigate Powhatan had recently met with an accident off Fuh Chow, by which her machinery was so deranged that two months, it was anticipated, would elapse before the damage could be repaired.

A report was current and generally believed that two Russian privateers, supposed to have been American clippers purchased in California, had been seen off Hong-Kong.

The Russian and Allied Fleets in the Pacific.

The Northern Light has brought us further intelligence of the movements and operations of the Allies in the North Pacific. It will be remembered that, according to our last advices, the squadron had sailed from Petropaulovski to the Amoor, but on arriving there found no trace of the enemy. By the accounts that have now reached us we learn that the British steamer Baracouta discovered the Russian fleet in the Bay of Castre and immediately set off to communicate the important news to the remainder of the fleet, leaving two frigates to blockade the port until they could be reinforced. The fleet arrived off Castre while a thick fog lay along the coast, and, when it cleared away, the Allies discovered to their surprise and chagrin that the Russians had again eluded their grasp.

Diplomacy at Loose Ends.

The Minister to France is, it seems, to be replaced by a gentleman, name unknown, less addicted to public prayers and pageants. Mr. MASON's offence consisted primarily in suffering a stroke of paralysis, and secondarily, in declining, after the stroke, to vacate a position so valuable to partisan tactics in view of the nearing Presidential scrimmage. An ostensible motive, one answering for the press and the people, was wanted; and that was supplied by the circumstance of his assisting at the celebration of Te Deum in Notre Dame, upon the capture of Sebastopol. That false step rendered the case against him complete. It is true, precedents for it abounded. The Court of Vienna, maintaining what may be called an acute neutrality, had twice congratulated that of the Tuileries on successes in the Crimea, and was, notwithstanding, held not to have violated the obligations of its position. The diplomats of Athens, with all their affinities for Russia, have not hesitated to felicitate the resident representatives of the Allies on the event of Sebastopol, and are, nevertheless, unsuspected of partisanship in the war. But the zeal of the Washington Cabinet for neutrality is such, that no act, however trifling, that leans to one side or the other, can be construed with less than the utmost strictness, or punished with less than the most condign severity; to this punctilious regard for equilibrium it is owing that Mr. MASON must be sacrificed, and Mr. CRAMPTON sent home.

If the fact can be hailed as the inauguration of a more compact and consistent system of foreign policy, there certainly can be no objection. It matters very little whether we like or reprehend the direction our diplomacy make take; there must be a common wish to have it coherent and uncontradictory; a wish that has never thus far been gratified. The understanding of the Secretary at Washington with his deputy abroad, has, in nearly every instance, and in respect to nearly every political emergency, been loose and unsatisfactory. There has been no distinctive scheme of ideas to which, in the absence of direct instruction, the envoy may appeal. Mr. SOULE undoubtedly believed himself authorized to play his fantastic rôles at Madrid; because the Administration was presumed to favor the acquisition of Cuba at all costs. Whereas, the policy of Government we now know to have been adjusted upon a pacific basis, as a result of Mr. SOULE's experiment. His individual value in the business was that of a balloon sent up, and lost, to determine the direction of the wind. Mr. MASON is thus the victim of a definite but undefined policy in regard to the existing war. Either his instructions were not sufficiently specific, or his partialities too unruly to admit of that nice neutrality which shall favor Russia without offending France; in other words, he did not understand the general policy of the Home Government in such cases, or understanding it, he chose to deviate. In either event, the extempore character of our diplomacy, its ambiguity, and obscurity, are responsible for the fault; for in them, extreme divergences of the minister can be justified.

With an external scheme so disjointed and incoherent, the policy of Russia affords an instructive contrast. That has a positive [illegible] through channels familiar to every agent; and in its application as transported [illegible], as never without the circular commentary of the Foreign Department at St. Petersburgh to make it practicable. The diplomatic corps is as absolutely drilled as a corps d'armée; as destitute of volition, of that sense of personal independence, which may have misled Mr. MASON, as a squadron of Cossacks. They move to the electric touch of the Chancellerie at home. Until the solution is furnished by his master, the servant is an enigma that no rival diplomat can solve. In this compactness, this perfect oneness of Russian diplomacy, lies the political superiority, which until recently dispensed with armies, and left navies in idleness; while the advance of Russian influence was steady and accumulative. In a school of diplomacy like this Secretary MARCY will do well to take lessons. He will learn that greater success waits upon a bold, distinct and even aggressive policy, when once pronounced, and apprehended by those entrusted with its execution, than upon a scheme half-defined of obtaining Cuba, of defrauding Dominica, of annexing certain Danish islands in the West Indies; or under the guise of an armed neutrality, of affording aid and comfort to Russia. Until our Government has a determinate policy we certainly believe no Envoy need be sent abroad; and when it has one, no Envoy should be sent without thorough acquaintance with all its details and all its secret machinery; or without brains enough to comprehend them; or without a sense of subordination sufficiently profound to insure implicit and even mechanical obedience.

The Crimean Victors.

It must be rather humiliating to the sturdy amour propre of John Bull to be reduced to the condition of drawing consolation, under a sense of defeat, from the approving patronage of LOUIS NAPOLEON. Yet such is the unhappy position in which our progenitor finds himself with reference to the war in the Crimea. England has borne her full share of the cost of the war in men and money. Her ships have rendered the most important services in the Black Sea, and achieved some brilliant success. She guaranteed the Turkish loan of 100,000,000 of francs, and advanced half that sum to the Piedmontese Government, to aid in carrying on the war. She has rendered as essential services as her ally, and yet, when the culminating point of the whole campaign was reached, and Sebastopol fell, France walks off with all the glory—gathers all the laurels for the brows of her own Marshals—inscribes the name of the Malakoff on her National Column of Victories, and poor Britannia can do nothing but frown terribly at that enfant terrible, General SIMPSON, who sends to her the most truthful, but most mortifying, accounts of his own want of success in the storming of Sebastopol. The Emperor of the French in the most generous and large-hearted manner, seeing the mortification of his ally, publishes an article in the Moniteur, according all credit to England for her share of the war, her readiness to spend her money, to sacrifice her men, and to lend her credit, in the cause. It was very generous, and very handsomely done; and the English press is by no means backward in acknowledging the Emperor's fairness and sense of justice; but then comes the mortification of there being any necessity for such an apology, for their failure before the Redan, which is made the more galling by the patronage of the Emperor. John Bull is not used to being patronized, but he can't help himself in this case. If there had been any opportunity for him to meet Russia on the sea, France would then have been where England is now. But Russia builds fleets to keep them safely moored behind fortified walls, or else sinks them to keep them out of reach of the enemy. But fortifications cannot be treated in that manner, and therefore France reaps the laurels of the Crimean war, and England must rest content with footing her share of the bills, and enduring her share of the hardships. General PELISSIER is created a Marshal, and poor SIMPSON is in danger of being recalled. As it is so odd a thing to gain a great victory without anybody being raised to the Peerage, and as it would be so absurd a proceeding to bestow any marks of distinction on the Commander-in-chief of the English forces in the Crimea, the London Times proposes that Sir EDMUND LYONS shall be made a full Admiral of. Poor John Bull is placed under the necessity of rejoicing over a victory which was gained by the French, and in appointing a national day of thanksgiving, Sunday was very discreetly selected, as the sacredness of the day would call for no external manifestations of joy.

☞ The friends of Gen. SCOTT will be pleased to learn the fact—which they should never have had occasion to doubt—that the question of his back pay is at length settled satisfactorily. Our Washington correspondent telegraphs to us that it will positively be allowed, and that the only delay now is with the accounting officers of the Treasury, in ascertaining the amount due.

The London Times' Crimean Correspondent.

The London correspondent of the Sunday Courier says of the brilliantly written account of the storming that the Malakoff, "was not written by RUSSELL, who is on leave at Constantinople, but by MACDONALD, who has taken his place for a few months. The daguerreotype is admirably executed, and from some knowledge of MACDONALD I should say severely true, even more to be relied on than RUSSELL's, who is a thorough Irishman, often led away by generous impulse. It is more elaborate than any of RUSSELL's pictures, but wants their charm of free, frank, brilliant dash and heart-warmth. I remember when the fleet was reviewed at Portsmouth by the Queen, prior to its start for the Baltic, two accounts appeared of the pageant, one by RUSSELL, the other by MACDONALD, and the palm was generally given to the latter."

Fortunate paper, to have two such writers on its staff of reporters!

☞ They have had a baby show at Boston, England.

We have become so accustomed to the unwonted phenomenon of a great Republic that we not sparingly realize the fact that it is but last week at the Metropolitan Theatre, that we saw a play. The Bostonians have saved up sufficient money, and are now going to indulge in the luxury of French tragedy—to our loss. Their indiscretion will probably last for a fortnight, during which period we may look for some of these startling criticisms which at certain epochs emanate from the severe sanctums of modern Athens. We can anticipate their tone. Mlle. RACHEL has been successful in New-York, ergo, she will fail in Boston. Had she made a fiasco here, she would have created a furore there—the Boston judgment being creative, destructive, or obstinate, as the case requires. It is the place for establishing small reputations or losing large ones. Let us hope that Mlle. RACHEL (who, by the way, is to appear at the handsome Boston Theatre) will pass scatheless through the ordeal.

To-night Mlle. RACHEL takes her first American benefit, appearing in the tragedy of Joan of Arc. In the after part of the evening she will recite the "Marseillaise." This is not all. Mme. LA GRANGE, with the true feeling of an artist, has volunteered her services, and will sing the brilliant cavatina from "I Puritani." Altogether it is not easy to find a better evening's entertainment; even if we take the map to guide us to the best localities. There will, of course, be a rush for seats, and if country gentlemen of trusting habits wish to keep out of the clutches of the speculators, they had better secure them at once.

Mlle. RACHEL will perform every evening this week, repeating several of her best impersonations, and producing one or two novelties. Mlle. DE GIRARDIN's comedy of "Lady Tartuffe" will be given to-morrow night, and is decidedly the most attractive feature of the week's performance.

At the Academy of Music—an establishment of all others that deserves to be cherished—the performances of the week have been admirable, but the houses discouraging. Considering that at the present moment we have no other musical establishment in operation it is, we submit, a little too bad that the liberal enterprise of Mr. PAYNE should thus languish for want of proper support. To be sure there has been nothing of a novel character to attract the attention of our hungry amusement hunters, but on the other hand every revival has had the benefit of a new cast, and in no one instance have we witnessed carelessness in the manner of placing operas on the stage. The old system of playing standard works twice only, and doing that in the most slip-shod manner has, we fear, played the mischief with the available repertoire. People ask for novelties now; nothing else will satisfy them. Mr. PAYNE is doing the best he can.—MEYERBEER's "Prophet" is in rehearsal; all sorts of mechanics and costumers are busy with their trades, and in a week or two this great work will be produced in a gorgeous and complete manner. In the meantime we ask our readers to show their interest in an Art establishment, not by talking about it, but by going.—To-night AUBER's "Massaniello" will be repeated, with Miss ELIZA HENELER, Signori BRIGNOLI, AMODIO, GASPARONI, &c. We hear, by the by, that there is a probability of "Norma" being given, with LA GRANGE as the Druidess (she made a hit in it last season) and HENELER as Adalgisa. A casts of this kind would undoubtedly lend new interest to a somewhat threadbare opera.

On Saturday, the Philharmonic Society gave its first rehearsal in Mr. NIBLO's Saloon. The concerts of the coming season will be held in the Theatre as heretofore. This is a Society that appeals peculiarly to the cultivated classes of New-York, and we are happy to say, successfully. The past season was in every respect satisfactory. If energy and enterprise can secure success, the present season will even exceed the previous one. The orchestra has been reinforced with a number of violins, and now counts upwards of sixty stringed instruments. Mr. BERGMANN, the new conductor, is perhaps the only man in the country (excepting Mr. EIFELD, who, by the way, plays in the band) capable of directing such a massive orchestra. Judging from the care bestowed on that somewhat familiar work, the Pastoral Symphony, we are led to hope that a great triumph will be achieved at the first concert. Let every man of taste subscribe to these concerts, and attend the rehearsals.

A very desirable series of entertainments will commence shortly, and we are sure the ladies will feel obliged to us for directing their attention to the fact. That terrible question, "What shall we do with ourselves to-day?" (which in intensity ranks next to "what shall we have for dinner?" (will be readily answered when Mr. WILLIAM MASON (of whom we are now writing) has started his Matinées musicale. It is the intention of this eminent pianist, in connection with Mr. CARL BERGMANN, to establish a series of morning concerts; beginning—like all morning concerts—in the afternoon. The programme will be composed of quartettes, trios and solos, all of which will be executed in the most perfect manner. For the acquirement of a correct taste nothing can excel this species of entertainment. If Messrs. MASON and BERGMANN succeed in carrying out all their intentions,—and we see no reason why they should not,—they will establish a practical Academy of Music of the highest importance.

Mr. BRISTOW's opera of "Rip Van Winkle" will be repeated every evening this week. The Spanish dancers who appeared here on Monday evening have been withdrawn—somewhat abruptly, we think. A couple of performances before a strange audience are scarcely sufficient for the fair trial of a novelty in art.

At Mr. WALLACK's Theatre the highly successful comedy of the "Game of Love" has been withdrawn—not because it had lost any of its attractiveness, but because Mr. PLACIDE, who sustained a principal character, had to fulfil an engagement elsewhere. The comedy will, of course be revived. In the interim several novelties will be produced. To-night a comedy in two acts called "A Lady in Difficulties," and the comedietta "A Pretty Piece of Business." The first-named piece will introduce a new actress to the Wallackian audience—Miss MARY GANNON. To-morrow evening the two latest novelties here, "Lavater" (an admirable piece) and "£500 Reward" will be repeated.

Mr. BURTON is doing a little of everything. Last week he produced an opera, "The Daughter of the Regiment," with Miss ROSALIE DURAND and Mr. LYSTER in the principal rôles, and was successful. No manager in New-York can guage the appetite of an audience better than Mr. BURTON. Another musical novelty is promised on Wednesday. To-night we are to have the Comedy of "Still Water Runs Deep," and the "Daughter of the Regiment."

Mr. FORREST, the tragedian, is starring it at the Broadway to moderate houses, and plays to-night in "Metamora."

At Barnum's Museum a new local piece, (prize drama,) written by a lady, and called "Mary Morton, or the Shirt Sewers," is attracting crowded and delighted audiences. It is described as an eminently powerful work.

Mr. COLLINS, the well-known Irish comedian, is about trying his fortunes in the concertising way. He commences to-night at Niblo's Saloon. The entertainment will be partly musical and partly anecdotal. We have our misgivings of the success of such entertainments, but if any one deserves success, it is surely Mr. COLLINS, who has obtained efficient assistance to carry out his idea. The vocalists are Mrs. GEORGIANA STUART, Miss MARIA LEACH, Mr. GEORGE SIMPSON and Mr. STEPHEN LEACH. The instrumentalists, Mr. APTOMMAS and Mr. MANDER.

At the National Theatre, to-night, Messrs. ALLEN and J. R. SCOTT appear as the heroes of the respective pieces, "Matteo Falcone" and "O'Neal, the Great." The afterpiece is called the "Magic Pills."

The following places of amusement are the best of their class in New York, and are alike worthy of support. The Hibernia, No. 410 Broadway; Buckley's Serenaders, No. 539 Broadway; Geo. Christy & Wood's Minstrels, No. 444 Broadway; Macallister, magic, No. 472 Broadway; Smith's Tour of Europe and Siege of Sebastopol, No. 536 Broadway; Battle of Bunker Hill, No. 663 Broadway; and the superb Düsseldorff Gallery.

Charitable Concert.

A Concert for the benefit of ELLEN MURPHY, a graduate of the Institution for the Blind, will be given this evening at the Bleecker Building, corner of Bleecker and Morton streets. Miss HARRIET BARNETT and others, well known to the friends of the Blind, will assist. The selection of pieces is various and good. We bespeak the kindly interest of the charitable for a very worthy object.

☞ DR. RANNEY, of the Blackwell's Island Insane Asylum, shows to visitors a fine model of a ship which was constructed by a patient. The most curious thing about it is the fact that the maker was so disposed to suicide, that he could not be trusted with a decent knife to forward his labors lest he should injure himself. He has since recovered, and was visited his old friend the Doctor in the Asylum.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Congress and the Navy—Sixty Subjects of Appointment—Lost Opportunities—Reserved Naval Officers—Your Correspondent Go Shooting—Office, &c.

Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Oct. 13, 1855.

The last Congress did much for the Navy. The six new steam-frigates—for the construction of which liberal appropriations were made—if they answer all reasonable expectation, will constitute an effective naval force superior to all our naval craft afloat. This was a long step in the right direction, although more ships are still necessary ere our military marine will bear any just proportion to our mercantile. Let us hope that the success of the six new steamers may stimulate the country to further augmentation of this important arm of the national defence.

But a year ago our Navy was deficient in an element even more indispensable than ships. The miserable little squadrons that we have already afloat, were shortly manned, with very bad material. Ships can be got up at pretty short notice in case of emergency, while thorough seamen are not so readily obtained. Congress passed a law increasing Jack's pay; but still more judiciously it provided for the honorable discharge of the sailor at the end of his cruise, and gave him the privilege of reënlistment within three months of his discharge, without losing his pay during the period of non-employment. The operation of this provision has proved most beneficial to the service. The Navy is now full of men; and there is no difficulty in procuring any number of good seamen for our National vessels, notwithstanding the wages of merchantmen are much the largest. Our Naval sailors now feel that the service is a home. It is to them a sort of life estate. They serve out a cruise, take their three months of jollification, or recreation, and return to service knowing that when their ready cash is all gone they have three months pay already accumulated. The fact that our merchantmen are still very short-handed, while the Navy is overflowing with men, is the best evidence of the effect of the new provision.

The reports from different ships on board of which apprentices have been taken by order of Secretary DOBBIN, concur in the statement that the boys are all doing well, and will make good sailors. There can be little doubt that this naval apprentice system will raise up a class of thorough seamen, far superior in both moral and physical qualifications, to the mass of those who have manned our ships during late years. Congress ought to take a hint from this experience and make it one of the conditions upon which clearances shall be granted to our merchant ships, that they shall each carry a number of apprentices proportioned to their tonnage. As these boys become good seamen within a year or two, there would be a speedy end to complaints of the difficulty of manning our merchant ships. Will members elect to Congress bear this in mind?

Can a naval officer who has been placed on the "reserved list," at half pay, be employed by the Government in any other capacity, and receive compensation for the additional service? The question is interesting to many officers whose pay is affected by the late action of the Naval Retiring Board. A law of Congress provides that compensation shall not be given to the same individual for two different offices under the Government. Does this provision apply to "reserved naval officers, who are not on active duty, although liable to be called upon for service at any time? Surely Congress never intended such an application; and if the law is held to render the reserved officer ineligible to other public employment, the effect of his reservation is to condemn him to live on half pay, or compel him to resign his commission altogether,—for an officer liable to be called upon for active service at any time, could scarcely venture the experiment of mercantile, manufacturing, or agricultural pursuits.

Now that the elections are over in Pennsylvania and Ohio, the politicians are flocking in here, probably to settle accounts at the White House. For the information of "the party," and to render the task of learning where to strike to advantage more easy, I have prepared the following list of places now vacant, any of which can probably be had for the asking. Some of them will be found rather comfortable for aspiring young men, who desire to see the world, especially the Secretaryships of Legation. These latter were created by Congress at its last session, and have probably escaped the attention of the place-hunters.

SUITS HAVE BEEN COMMENCED AGAINST INFRINGERS!

PATENT RIGHTS.

75 cents for an ILLUMINATING VAULT COVER.*
75 cents a foot for HYATT'S ILLUMINATING GRATING.

At HYATT'S Illuminating Works, No. 128 West Broadway.

*NOTE.—Some of the infringers of my Patents advertise "Illuminating Vault Lights." Query: What sort of lights are they which are not illuminating? The gentlemen are perhaps, doctors or butchers. The latter most probably, judging by the way they butcher my beautiful invention.
T. H.

ELASTIC METALLIC ROOF.—H. OUTCALT'S PATENT.—The great objection, heretofore, to metallic roofs has been their liability to contraction and expansion. This objection can now be overcome by OUTCALT'S Patent, which is so simple and easily understood that any one, with common mechanical skill, can produce and put on a roof in half the time required by any other mode. Iron, copper, zinc or tin may be used, and is prepared by forming cylindrical tubes on the edges. Roofs on this plan have been constructed in middle Ohio, Kentucky and Missouri; they have, in all cases, given entire satisfaction, and are fire-proof and rust-proof as well as water-proof. A model is now on exhibition at the Fair of the American Institute, where the agent will be in attendance daily. Architects and builders are invited to examine it, and procure it with others. Applications for the purchase of rights may be made to the subscriber in person, at No. 169 Pearl-st., third story; or by letter, addressed to him, Box No. 4,074 Post Office, New-York.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE MAGIC FOUNTAIN.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE HOUSE BESIDE THE WELL."

Author of the most delightful work issued during the year. It is impossible for any one to read them without admiring them to be in every way meritorious productions.

Published in uniform volumes. Price 50 cents each.

A FEW BRIEF EXTRACTS FROM NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

From the New-York Commercial Advertiser.

We can commend these as two of the best novels of their class ever written.

From the Boston Telegraph.

Very touching and beautiful stories.

From the Boston Transcript.

One of the most attractive novels of the day. It is the production of a lady of genius and taste; full of deep feeling and sustaining in thought and sentiment.

From the Boston Transcript.

Both are excellent stories, with interesting plots skillfully worked out and characters artistically drawn. There are passages in them full of surpassing beauty. The author is a shrewd observer of practical life, and the narrations are very agreeable. They are works that can be read with pleasure and profit in the home circle. They are pronounced by competent critics to among the best novels of their class.

From the Boston Olive Branch.

This is one of those charming stories of domestic life that strike a sympathetic cord in every heart. All who have ever known the blessed ministry of an older sister will read this book with delight. Her patience, her self-denial, her deep, pure love, are well portrayed.

From the Philadelphia News.

Truly a charming story; indeed one of the best it has been our privilege to read. It is really interesting—written in a graphic and lively style. Our fair readers will be particularly pleased with it.

From the New-Bedford Mercury.

These books go properly together and teach well a lesson early to be learned, that the glory of life is to live for others and for duty. This fairly ranks justly with the authoress of "Olive" and the "Head of the Family," and this is no mean praise.

THE UNITED STATES GRINNELL EXPEDITION IN SEARCH OF SIR J. FRANKLIN.

BY DR. E. K. KANE, U. S. N.

Richly Illustrated with Maps and Engravings on Steel, Wood and Stone.

8vo., Muslin, $3; half Calf, $3 75.

This volume forms a fitting memorial of one of the noblest enterprises of the day; one undertaken to subserve no private or selfish ends, but from motives of the most generous philanthropy. It presents a vivid picture of the perils of Arctic navigation, so unfurnished during that wonderful beaumont of almost nine months among the drifting ice in Wellington Channel. No one can read without emotion that journal, written with the thermometer at freezing point, when the vessel might at any moment be crushed by the ice-floes. Still, in spite of the circumstances in which it was written, the general tone is buoyant and hopeful. There can be no doubt that this volume is the most interesting which has yet been produced by any voyagers in the Arctic regions.

A SECRET TO THE LADIES!—If you would wear roses of health in your cheeks, don't use chalk, rouge, or cosmetics, but get a bottle of Philotokan, or Female Friend, and use according to directions. Nervousness, sleeplessness, anxiety and irregularity of the menstrual periods, is the cause of much of the ill health and suffering of females. Painful menstruation and all those troublesome complaints, (making allowance for natural broken cases,) disappear with the use of the Philotokan. Let not the single despair of admirers, or the married ladies of offending, until they have tried the Philotokan. Price $1; to be had of druggists generally.

A REFRAIN.

DEDICATED TO SMITH BROTHERS.

By a Deceived Dandy.

Not worth the burn of a cigar,
Or a dirty beggar's note,
So threadbare ragged, greasy,
Torn, worn, forlorn and breezy
In my coat!

And yet, when I'm grandly dress'd,
Looking I dare say, my best,
Stealth is "tattered and torn,"
Heavens! how awfully worn
In this vest!

And there, once up to my wants,
Were fashioned from cloth of France—
These, my friend, these, once so fine,
Brilliant, superb, divine!
Are my pants!

Avaunt! ye ragged, rag'ed crew—
Give way to the fashions new—
Fly off—begone! others
I will trade with SMITH BROTHERS.
What say you!

MARKET REPORTS.

[illegible]

ASHES—Unchanged. 150 bbls. sold, [illegible] the [illegible] Pearls, and 400 Pots, together, 600 bbls.

COFFEE—Rather more stiff than the same, with sales of 50 bags Ceylon, and the current movements are unimportant. The entire week's business amounts to 4,000 bags. We subjoin the usually prevalent quotations:

Canadian is mildly held at $6 75@10 for common superfine to best extra, ⅌ bbl., but it is inactive. Southern was purchased to the extent of 2,500 bbls. at $6 75@$8 50, for low mixed to extra, ⅌ bbl. Rye Flour and Corn Meal are unchanged.

FRUIT—Holders are generally very firm, in view of the comparatively light stocks here, but the inquiry is quiet.

GRAIN—Wheat exhibits no new feature worth noticing. The entire week's arrival never reached 100,000 bushels, here and to arrive, and we have to include Canadian White at $2 15@$2 25; the latter was extreme rates. Western White, $2 15; do. Red, at $1 90; Southern White at $2 12@, and do. Red at $2@2 05 ⅌ bushel. Rye is lower, sales and rather inquired; 2,500 bushels were sold, at 91@92, and Western generally offered no more than $1 85 ⅌ bushel. Barley continued without change of interest. State and Western Oats are in good request and very firm at the [illegible] ⅌ bushel. Corn is in lively demand at full rates. Sales having been made, since our last, of 64,000 bushels Western Mixed at 94@c.@bc. ⅌ bushel.

HAY—There were 300 bales River sold at previous quotations.

HIDES—Mr. HULL informs us that "the demand continues active, and prices have advanced on the enquiry, but more especially on the more common class of hides. The receipts being light the stock is much reduced, and most of those remaining on hand are in much demand, which are held above last sales. The market is now almost entirely bare of Buenos Ayres hides, with sales of a few thousand to arrive. The receipts from this quarter, for the next two or three months, will show an increase, while from other ports they will be a falling off, particularly from Orinoco. Receipts have been 14,150 hides, as follows: 7,047 Buenos, 6 Rosario; 4,400 Porto Cabello, 2 Carthagena, 1,000 Laguayra, and 1,695 from West Indies. The stock on hand is: 1,000 Dry Buenos Ayres, 7,000 Dry Rio Grande, 17,000 Orinoco, 500 Savanilla, 1,000 Carthagena, 3,000 West Indies, Southern, &c.; 4,000 Salted Buenos Ayres and Rio Grande. The following are the ruling quotations: Buenos Ayres, [illegible] 32 lbs., 24c.@26c.; [illegible] R. G. and B. A. Green Salted Cow, 18c.; Rios Nunas, 20c.; Gambia and Bissau, 18c.; Orinoco, salted, 22c.; San Juan, or they run, 16c.@17c.; Savanilla, &c., do., 16c.@18c.; Maracaibo, salted, 16c.; Maracaibo, dry, 19c.; Maracaibo, Ox and Cow, 17c.; Campeche and Maracaibo, 18c.; Porto Cabello, (open,) 20c.@21c.; Porto Cabello, (hooked,) —; Rio Hacha, 16c.; Savanilla, salted and dry, 16c.@16½c.; California, dry salted and dry, 18c.; Dry Patagonia and Texas, (cash,) 16c.@17c.; Mantilla Buffalo, 61c.@7c.; Calcutta Buffalo, 12½c.@13c.; Calcutta Kips, slaughter, $1 30@$1 35; Calcutta Kips, dried green, $1 10@$1 15; Calcutta Kips, dry salted, $1 30@$1 40; Calcutta Kips, black dry, $1@$1 05; B. A. Horse, dry, $1 15@$1 25; B. A. Horse, green salted, [illegible]

HOPS—Are quiet, but steady, as before quoted.

IRON—We find about 150 tons Scotch Pig found buyers at $26 50, usual terms, ⅌ ton.

LATHS—Have not varied.

LEAD—Is held with much firmness at our previous quotations, but is inactive.

LEATHER—Mr. HULL says that the sales of domestic tanned during the week have been larger than for any week during the present year, and at an advance of fully 2c. ⅌ lb. on all descriptions. The sales of Hemlock tanned equaled 90,000 sides, and of Oak tanned, 3,200 sides,—leaving our present stock, but 41,000 sides of the former, and 7,640 sides of the latter—now chiefly held at the annexed ranges:—Oak (Spanish), light, 9 lb., 24c.@26c.; Oak, middle, 25c.@[illegible]; Oak, heavy, (including backing,) 27c.@30c.; Oak, (Buenos Ayres,) 26c.@28c.; Oak, Ohio, 26c.@28c.; Oak, B. A. wet salted, 20c.@22c.; Hemlock, light, B. G. & B. A., 22c.@23c.; Hemlock, middle, B. G. & B. A., 22c.@24c.; Hemlock, light, Orinoco, &c., 20c.@21c.; Hemlock, middle, Orinoco, &c., 21c.@22½c.; Hemlock, heavy, B. G. & B. A., 23c.@25c.; Hemlock, heavy, Orinoco, &c., 22c.@23c.; Hemlock, good damaged, 17c.@20c.; Hemlock, poor damaged, 11c.@13c.; Hemlock, upper, rough, slaughter, 25c.@27c.

LIME—Rockland is more inquired for at fully previous rates.

MOLASSES—The demand is still quite active at current prices, and we have to report sales since our last of 450 bbls. New-Orleans at 35c.@38c.; and nearly 700 hhds. Cuba, mostly to arrive from neighboring markets, at from 30c.@35c. ⅌ gallon.

NAVAL STORES—Rosin, Tar, and Crude Turpentine are essentially the same. Spirits Turpentine is dull and heavy, at 42c.@43c. ⅌ gallon.

OILS—Nothing really new has occurred in this line since our last.

PROVISIONS—Pork is less freely offered, and is tending upwards, though the inquiry for it is not very brisk. The sales since our last reach about 800 bbls., at $20@$24 for Mess, and $21@$21 50 for Prime, ⅌ bbl. No change of any moment has occurred in Cut Meats or Bacon. Lard is still salable and firm, there having been taken to-day 600 bbls., at 11½c. @12c. ⅌ lb. Beef is unaltered—sales having been made of 200 bbls., in lots, at $11 50@$12 for country Prime; $13@$14 for do. Mess, and $16 50@$17 for repacked Mess ⅌ bbl. Prime Mess Beef is dull and heavy, at $20@$21 ⅌ tierce. Beef Hams are rare and nominal at $18@$19 ⅌ bbl. Butter is freely taken at the 21c. for Ohio, 18c.@20c. for common to very good State, and 22c.@25c. for prime and choice do. ⅌ lb. Cheese sells at 9c.@10c. ⅌ lb.

RICE—There were 140 tcs. reported as having been sold at $5 12½@$6 75 ⅌ 100 lbs.

SALT—Remains as last noticed.

SOAP—There have been 150 boxes Castile taken at 11c.@11½c. ⅌ lb.

SUGARS—Are quiet and depressed, only a few retail lots having been disposed of at old figures.

TALLOW—There were 10,000 lbs. prime sold on private terms.

WHISKEY—About 200 bbls. Ohio and Prime brought 26½c.@27c. ⅌ gallon.

FREIGHTS—For Liverpool, the engagements include Cotton at ¼d. ⅌ lb.; 1,000 bbls. Flour and 500 bbls. Rosin at 4s.; 90,000 bushels Grain at 11½d.@12d. ⅌ bushel; and some heavy goods at 30c.@35c. ⅌ ton. For London, the engagements were 4c.@5c. for Flour, ⅌ bbl.; 14d.@15d. for Grain, ⅌ bushel; and 45c.@50c. for heavy goods, ⅌ ton, with moderate shipments. For Havre, Bordeaux, the rates were being taken at about $1 for Flour, ⅌ bbl., and 30c. for Grain, ⅌ bushel. For other ports we heard of nothing really new. The latest charters were: a ship from Richmond to Sydney, N. S. W., Flour at $2 60; one from Savannah to Liverpool, Cotton, 5d., or, if to Havre, 15c.; a bark to Constantinople, Flour, $1 75, and Rice, 7c.; another, same voyage, Flour, $1 75; a brig, (loading bauxite,) to Baltimore, and back, $5,150; a British brig to Bonaventure and Buenos Ayres, Lumber, $19 50, without priority; a brig from Norfolk to Barbadoes, Hhd. Staves, $14; and from Georgetown to St. Croix, Corn Meal, $3 ⅌ barrel, and 65c. ⅌ bbl.; one, 120 tons, same voyage, $1,400, net; one (1,000 bbls.) to St. Domingo and back, $1,300; one from Franklin, La., to Richmond, Sugar and Molasses, 90 cents, and 95 on deck; one, 160 tons, hence to Bermuda, about $600; a bark, 250 tons, to Porto Rico, $1,000, and back from Bird Island, Guano, $6 50 ⅌ ton; a schooner to St. Martins and Antigua, 75c. ⅌ bbl.; one, 121 tons, to Kingston, Jam., and back, $1,200; one from Barrel Stave to New-York, Sugar and Molasses, $4, on and under deck.

$15,000 REWARD.—On the 11th of September of the American Express Company, in Dubuque, Iowa, by a conspirator from the United States Land Office. Said treasure stolen consisted of Sub Treasury in New-York, wrapped in common blanket of Chief of U. S. Army, and present bills of the Bank of New-York, in weight, and 24 packets of sheet lead, No. 4. The packets were made of white paper, one in each third, five bound with the twenty, about 100 inches long, of inches wide, one of Indian dress, Indian Tomahawks. The bottom of one of the boxes was of hemlock. They were strapped once around the middle with one inch hemp rope. It is claimed by the Assistant Treasurer, at Dubuque, that the boxes contained coin to the amount of $20,000. They were marked with cards addressed to the "Assistant Treasurer, U. S., New-York," which cards are admitted by the Deputy Assistant Treasurer, to be genuine.

Now, therefore, for the purpose of discovering how this fiend of hell, who has robbed the Sub Treasury of New-York, has been, the American Express Company will pay $10,000 for the recovery of the money, or in that proportion for any part of it, and $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the thief, or any part of the money, or any evidence or information relative to the making of said Boxes, or purchasing of such wood table, that Box, or the lead. All communications should be addressed to the undersigned.

THE GREAT WESTERN INSURANCE COMPANY have commenced taking Marine Risks at their rooms, the Great Western Building, No. 33 Pine-st. Approved risks will be taken on liberal terms, and the usual credit given on premium notes. Three quarters of the net profits of the business will be returned to the customers in scrip.

On such risks as have terminated without loss to the Company, that is, a customer paying a premium on any risk terminating without loss, will be entitled to participate in the profits of the business in proportion to the amount of premium paid on such risk; and should a customer by the Company ten premiums during the year, eight of which terminate without loss, a dividend will be declared to him on the amount of these eight premiums even though the losses paid him on the other two risks exceed the premiums paid by him on the ten risks. This philosophical system on open policies as well as special risks.

MEDICAL.

WHY FEMALES SUFFER IN HEALTH.

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION.

BY M. A. M. MAURICEAU,

Professor of Diseases of Women.

One Hundredth Edition (132,000) 12mo., pp. 250.

A standard work of established reputation, found disposed in the confidence of the good Trade Sales of New-York, Philadelphia, and other cities, and sold by the principal Booksellers in the United States.

Every one who has not been discovered, by consulting her own experience with those described, the nature, character and cause of her complaint, and to spend much anxiety and suffering, as well as the unpleasantness of making known to, or making inquiry of, a physician in respect to the numberless ailments to which she is subject. The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice in respect to her situation, which she will have find. This book tells her what is the matter, and tells her what to do for it, in simple but chaste words, and such as she can understand.

Those suffering from obstructions or irregularities peculiar to the female system, or from prolapsus uteri, (falling of the womb,) or from fluor albus, will each find in its pages the means of prevention, amelioration, and relief.

Much distress of mind, as well as thousands prematurely, might be saved to every husband, if the simplest laws appertaining to the marriage state were better understood. That they are not better understood is traceable to that natural and almost commendable sensitiveness that will rather suffer than consult or converse with even a medical man in respect to complaints peculiar to the female only.

In a copy of "The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion," every female has a physician that knows and describes her every symptom, feeling and ailment, and which she can consult at all times without violence to her sensitiveness.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Dayton, Ohio.

DAYTON, May 1, 1855.

Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU—My Dear Sir: My wife has been perceptibly sinking for some three years or more, in consequence of great anguish and suffering some months before and during confinement; every succeeding one more and more debilitated and prostrated her, putting her life in imminent danger, and each succeeding one more alarming of. I supposed that this state of things was inevitable, and resigned myself to meet the worst. I heard your book highly spoken of as containing some matters reaching my case. On its point and perused I immediately gave to you the relief it afforded my distressed mind, and the changes wrought to my wife, on learning that the great discovery of M. M. Decorsaux provided a remedy. It opened a prospect to me which I little conceived was possible. But for this, six months ago would have rested over my head, in all human probability my wife would have been in her grave and my children left motherless.

For sale by STRINGER & TOWNSEND, No. 222 Broadway; Sherman & Co., Astor House, No. 1 Vesey-st.; Dewitt & Davenport, Tribune Buildings, and at the Publishing office, No. 130 Liberty-st., New-York; Joseph Tucker, Boston; also T. B. Peterson, No. 102 Chestnut-st., Philadelphia. On the receipt of $1 a copy will be transmitted by mail, free of postage, to any part of the United States. All letters must be addressed, post paid, to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, office No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York, or Box No. 1,224, New-York Post-Office.

CAUTION CONTEMPTIBLE IMPOSITION.—Spurious editions, with nearly similar titles, are attempted to be palmed off. See that Dr A. M. Mauriceau is on title page

A BOOK FOR BOTH SEXES

THE PHYSIOLOGY OF MARRIAGE.

BY A MARRIED MAN AND PROFESSIONAL PHYSICIAN.

It is one of the most remarkable books which has been published in any country. In language simple, decorous and respectful, and in terms of fatherly kindness it reveals to the young of both sexes a fund of information, hitherto to be obtained only at a costly rate, and by years of study, of which many have been prompted to resort to sources of the questionable or of immoral tendency. The work is written by one of our oldest and most experienced medical men, who has devoted a long life to the study of Physiology. The work was examined in manuscript by competent judges, and pronounced to be as unexceptionable as any work which has appeared in the English language. It breathes, moreover, a truly Christian spirit.

THE FOLLOWING SUBJECTS ARE ITS CONTENTS:

Chapter 1. The True Relation of the Sexes.
Chapter 2. Premature Marriages and its Consequences.
Chapter 3. Errors of Education.
Chapter 4. Errors of Courtship.
Chapter 5. Individual Transgressions and its Penalties.
Chapter 6. Social Errors and their Punishment.
Chapter 7. Physical Laws of Marriage.
Chapter 8. Impotence, Sterility and Barrenness.
Chapter 9. The Laws of Pregnancy.
Chapter 10. Chloe Without a Name.
Chapter 11. The Laws of Lactation.
Chapter 12. A Crime that ought not to be Named.
Chapter 13. Directions to Parents and Guardians.
Chapter 14. General Directions.

JOHN P. JEWETT & CO., Boston.
JEWETT, PROCTOR & WORTHINGTON, Cleveland, Ohio.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—Mr. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures every kind of humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common pimple.

He has tried it in over 1,100 cases, and never failed, except in two cases, both thunder humor. He has now in his possession over 100 certificates of its virtue, all within 20 miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of boils.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the eyes and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Reader, I produced over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case, and know it never will extinguish fire, or make you will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial, it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appears to me surprising—first, that it grows in our pastures, in some place quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846; second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I sold at one store 1 dozen bottles per day. In April, 1854, I sold over a thousand bottles per day.

No change of diet over necessary—eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children over 5 years, dessert spoonful; children from 2 to 5 years, tea-spoonful. At no stress can be taken with its all constitutions. Take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Mr. KENNEDY gives personal attendance in bad cases of Scrofula.

Manufactured by DONALD KENNEDY, No. 120 Warren-st. Roxbury, Mass. Price, $1.

MARSH, ORVIS & CO., No. 138 Greenwich-st.; BOYD & PAUL, Chambers-st.; C. WELLS & CO., Franklin-st.; McKESSON, ROBBINS & CO., No. 116 Maiden-lane; HAYLAND, HERNELL & BISLEY, Warren-st.; WARD, CLORE & CO., Maiden-lane; and retailed by all respectable Druggists.

TRIEBEMAR.—THE GREAT EUROPEAN DISCOVERY.—Protected by Royal Letters Patent of England, and secured by the seals of the Ecole de Pharmacie at Paris, and the Imperial College of Medicine, Vienna.

TRIEBEMAR No. 1.—Is the remedy for general and local debility, loss of virile power, premature decay, and all the distressing consequences arising from early abuse, &c. Its effects are efficacious in youth, manhood, and old age; the virile powers would not become impaired, even in the decline of life. If the Triebemar were universally adopted; all physical impediments vanish like magic before its influence, thus rendering its use inevitable to those entering the marriage state.

TRIEBEMAR No. 2.—Completely and entirely eradicates all traces of those disorders which experts and quacks have so long been thought an antidote for, to the ruin of the health of a vast portion of the population.

TRIEBEMAR No. 3.—Is the great European remedy for that class of disorders which undoubtedly the English Physician treats with mercury, to the inevitable destruction of the patient's constitution, and which all the Sarsaparilla in the world cannot remove.

TRIEBEMAR No. 1, 2 and 3, are alike devoid of taste or smell, and all harmless qualities. They may lay on the toilet table without their use being detected.

Sold in its cases at $3 each, divided into separate doses, as administered by Vilpian, Lallemand, Ricord, &c.

To be had wholesale and retail of Mr. H. A. BARROW, No. 31 Gransby-st., near Canal, New-York, specially appointed by the Proprietor and Potentee as Agent for the United States, and every other part of America. Immediately on receiving a remittance Mr. Barrow will forward the Triebemar to any part of the world, securely packed, and addressed according to the instructions of the writer.

Sold also by W. R. ZIEBER, No. 56 South 2d-st., below Chestnut, Philadelphia.

Retail Agents required. Terms cash.

SCENES AROUND.

An Appeal to the People from the Sleepy Hollowites

INTO ALD. NOTHEBY.

The Guarantee Commissioner of Chief Matsell.

Vermilage still in Demand.

To the Tribes of New-York.

Mr. MATSELL, unfortunately charge on the official post, although, sustained by citizens, by 23 affidavits of those residing on the very place mentioned of the earth—by the Mayor, the Recorder, and by the Recorder of the Assistants—yet, he ignores the reviews of all this, to—fore this Board, notable evidence appeared against him, but he has not yet been required before the Police Commission to lay his hand and his claws MAPP to appear before the Committee, but guards their hearings with the strongest, and threatens all with instant death, who dare work with voice-order from which a man of Barney Williams, the Clerk of the Common Council. Stating for investigation of much months past, I have had much difficulty in obtaining a quorum of the Committee, for excuse by and my comprehension.

THE NOTHEBY.

Alderman NOTHEBY, of the Sixth Ward, during the last session, he attended, grossly abused me, and above to endeavor the in every way. I have had of his blood drawn with great violence, in my hand, in open session of the Board of Aldermen, and there was not an American Alderman out of the 14 American Aldermen present, who raised their voice

THE RIT VAN DINKLER OF THE BOARD.

in resistance of the monstrous outrage. I have been attached to bond day by one hundred radicals, who swore to swear me in a room adjoining the Mayor's and MATSELL's office, that Noth's office having appointed, and confirmed by a guaranteed commissioner, on this I quitted here the Protection of the Police. And although the Board of Aldermen assembled in 40 minutes afterwards, no member publicly uttered a word against the outrageous manipulation. On Tuesday evening last, a member forcibly anathematized me in bonds, and declared that I should be severely cowhided, because I attached to the probably attention of RICHARD H. CORNELIUS, the present County Clerk, which Mr. C. has not denied by affidavit or other—wise, although he has had several days to do it in! During the evening of Thursday evening, an amendment advocated a proposition I introduced for the removal of Mr. MATSELL, but nearly all voted to lay it on the table. During the Police Investigation 7 months, not a dollar has been appropriated by the Common Council, and myself and brother M. BRADY have boasted the battle, and defrayed the expenses ourselves to the present moment. We canvassed the Board of Aldermen for pecuniary aid, and delineated only $20, but we obtained $400 until the premise of $4,000 if desired, from Alderman THOMAS CROTTY, of the Sixteenth Ward, when the Aldermen should positively charge on a noble and magnanimous American, who was born and reared in the sacred atmosphere of Bunker Hill. This is about all the pecuniary aid Mr. BRADY and myself have received during our protracted and terrible struggle against darkness and peril, for proving that the City of New-York is governed by a British alien, who also exercises a powerful sway at Albany and Washington, through his control of the primary and legal bodies of this City, Executive, Legislative and Judicial, and who, with his chief stick, has thwarted the Committee before the Judiciary for upwards months past, and will probably do so as long as he remains in his present powerful position. In the Board of Aldermen he is also omnipotent, before whom the American Aldermen stand in perfect terror. Although he is reeking with perjury,—with affidavits, the Brooklyn register and the Court Records of the City Hall before them, which have been published to the world a hundred times, in newspapers whose aggregate circulation is 200,000 or 300,000 copies per day, without any denial for six months on the part of Matsell, that he is an alien,—with MATSELL posted on an alien, on the lamp-posts and house-tops, and on the lips of little children, and admitting his alienism themselves,—with all this around them and within them, and staring them deadly in the face, still the Aldermen are terrified with American constituents appealing for their deliverance from the accursed fangs of MATSELL,—with all this thundering in their ears, and perplexing in their affrighted dreams, and biting the nerves of their consciences, and rankling in their hearts, still they dare not breathe beyond a whisper against the alien and British despot of our City, if not of our country. And why do they fear him? Because, he has, through legislative incendiarism, elected himself for life, because they fear he can deserve their political extinction, because the alien votes of the foreign wards of our City are convinced to suit the behests of MATSELL,—because, after the results of the American wards are declared, the votes of the foreign wards are counted, and the final result falsely declared,—and the minions of MATSELL are then elected from year to year, and will be while he is Chief of Police, whenever there shall be a contest through MATSELL rule in this City, and this is the only thing that ails him. For years then he has been elected, and more than one man has been defeated for the Presidency, by 2,000 or 3,000 foreign votes of this City, falsely counted, by the gangs of MATSELL. Moreover, these American Aldermen know that the imported foreign wards of this City are chiefly supported by usury and rainmakers in Winter by the industrious and virtuous American classes, and that they are the chief accomplices of our almshouses and prisons, whose support bears so heavily on the Americans. Hence, these alien Aldermen of these foreign wards intend to continued with at least two votes per head, (this foreign and American,) instead of which some of these foreigners can not only vote a dozen times, and if the American wards are not prescribed from the poll-books of the wards, in midnight hours, are elected by alien and foreign inspectors and policemen, and the Americans, white natives, are thus defrauded of their dearest rights. And the American Aldermen know that American ballot boxes are not permitted to exist for a moment in the worst foreign wards of the City, and that Americans vote for Americans in foreign wards at the peril of their lives. A beautiful state of things in an American country, and in the leading American City, and beneath American skies, and within a stone's chucks of the City Hall, and within 400 miles of the tomb of the immortal Washington. In the teeth of all this, and more, and the chief actors of all the evil, remains at his post, and the chief actors of all the evil, remains quiet, although MATSELL has falsely voted, and voted in the county a quarter of a century. In vain have I told these American Aldermen that they have the power to remove him. Remove him, did I say? Remove when? Remove on what? How can an alien be removed when the National and State Constitutions do not recognize the political or hardly the social existence of an alien? How then can an American office be occupied by an alien? By perjury. But what is the penalty of perjury? A damper, and the eternal deprivation of civil rights. Why, then, do these American Aldermen hesitate to declare an office vacant that is already vacant by the National and State Constitutions, and by allusions

WHO PAID THE BILLS.

THE ALIEN CHIEF MAGISTRATE.

WHY THEY WANT MY REPORT AND WHY THEY WON'T GET IT.

and perjury? Because they want my report and its evidence, in their response. Yes, and MATSELL wants it, too. And the Judges want it. And the aliens all want it, too, with it, they all want the Committee forever discharged. And why do they want it so much? They want official evidence may they Let them ask the Common Pleas Court records in the adjoining room. Let them consult the records of the Mayor in my possession. Let them consult the affidavits. Let them peruse to what nearly all of them have bound before the Committee. Let them overhaul their newspaper files. Let them look at the Journal of the Board of Aldermen. Let them consult each other. Let them examine the columns of the Sunday Courier, conducted by the brother in-law of MATSELL, and compare views on the alienism of MATSELL. Let them ask MATSELL himself, and watch his guilty eyes. Let them go over to Williamsburg and see his sister MARY, and the frenzied eyes of her body guard, and the gleam of their weapons. Let them consult her neighbors. Let a bright, stern glare reflect their own eyes, and their own consciences and their own hearts.

THE REAL NAMES KNOW IT.

And if this course shall, in the end, ask the first little child they meet, in the streets, their own children, as to the parentage of one of the highest crimes against the City, or of any country in the world, and the moral and historical evidence, they will want my Report, to lay it on to under the table, where it may slumber forever, or until the present excitement passes away, or until the election passes over, and as soon as they get my Report, they instead, of course, to discharge the Committee, and then have the four contumacious alien witnesses before the courts for their insolence to the very Committee appointed by these American Aldermen themselves; and to render the first contumacious Legislative chastisement ever adopted, a perfect nullity; and to then turn up the supremacy, and let had more hereafter treat Municipal Committees with profane and obscene contempt, as these official and sedacious witnesses have done for seven months past, who also fed and clothed by the people, and who, in return, then spurn and outrage the sacred laws of the people. And they want my Report, to consign to the tomb of the Capulets, to let the Prince of Criminals roam at large, to let crime run riot through our streets and courts, and to desecrate the glorious Temple of Freedom, consecrated to us by our illustrious fathers. But this is the first case of contumacy under the Legislative law of last Winter, and a precedent shall be established that all, and especially aliens, shall not trample our laws in the dust with impunity. And paralyzed be the American Aldermen who strives to thwart me in my efforts to sustain the laws, and to make these foreign aliens answer, and entrusted with the execution of a public investigation into the alienism and recondite of the Police Department.

[illegible]

THE A BURR OF A DAMPER FAIL.

And I will never surrender the rights of the Committee, and with it the rights of the people. Let all the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas screen the culprits as they have already, (with the exception of Judge DALY,) and let them settle their accounts with their constituents and their God, but I will never surrender my witnesses from MATSELL, MACNEILL, McCONE, and WEBSTER, until I have avenged the violated honor of the City, and until the greatest contumacious Legislative enactment has been completely overturned. Yes, these American witnesses went more light, and more evidence and my Report, when enough evidence has been officially adduced to hang a hundred aliens of the ordinary grade—evidence enough to hang a hundred murderers. Where is the man who would be permitted to run at large, save MATSELL, with such a mass of incontestable evidence before the community? They all know that either of them has cause to arise in the Board, and move the Vacation of MATSELL's office; and they all know that it would be received by acclamation and the roar of artillery, and by the prayers, and benedictions, and illuminations, and thanksgiving, and frantic rejoicing of the people. But as I cannot persuade them to do this, I intend to hold them immediately responsible to their American constituents. And I now inform them that it is my intention to every session until my term of office expires in 1857, to report to the Board of Aldermen the following preamble and resolution:

ALWAYS ON HAND REMEMBER.

Whereas, The Chief of Police of the City of New-York is a British alien, and he does not deny it, and has therefore never had the necessary qualifications to hold office, therefore

Resolved, That the office of Chief of Police of the City of New-York is hereby declared vacant.

On this proposition they must vote every night. This will doubtless greatly excite them and the aliens around the City Hall, and inhabitants may fly, and cowhides may be threatened, and I may again be attacked by a gang of murderers and my life be sacrificed, to all of which I will only say, "You may kill the body, but you shan't have the soul." Life is dear to us all, and I have got a large family whom, for their sake, I should leave with extreme regret, but rather than yield, I would still yield my attachment to my principles, nor my fidelity to the glorious Constitution of my country. Now will I give quarter to aliens in office, while they are disqualified by the laws of my native land. I have been supplanted with tens of thousands on this question, but millions of dollars shall not allure me from the paths of public rectitude, and place me in guilt and shame before my children and their posterity. Let the American Aldermen go on then. And let the infamous MATSELL remain at his post, in defiance of the people, if he can. I repeat it, if he can! If these American Aldermen can endure him, and if the people can tolerate him and his gang of vampires, who favor foreigners and aliens to the utter exclusion of the Americans. If all this can be tolerated by the American Aldermen and people, I will also strive to live under his lash, but, like Wm. Wallace, I'll never bow to MATSELL's cap, like the Aldermen, nor receive my ball in his odious presence. And I grieve to think that my boys have yet to live 21 years before they can cast a vote against MATSELL aliens and the foreign caravan who votes as soon after landing on our shores, which is the source of the dreadful evils that afflict our beloved country. And further this deponent saith not, because he has said enough to almost elicit a blush from MATSELL "himself," and to create a more fervent gratitude in the hearts of naturalized citizens, and to entwine with a deeper hue the cheeks of the American Aldermen of this City, and to arouse the Americans to a man to a profound sense of the dangers that beset their Temple of Liberty, in the absence of a reconstruction of the naturalization and suffrage laws, on which impend the fate, and happiness and liberty of the generations coming on the stage.

DR. SALTER on Discharges of the Ear.

LETTER NO. IX.

To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times:

SIR: Pursuing the subject of my letter No. 8, I purpose showing the importance of the disease in question, its destructive consequences when neglected, the certainty of great if not entire relief, and the absurdity of asserting that a discharge must remain unchecked, simply because it has already existed for some time—thus carrying the adage, "Honor old age," a little too far.

A discharge from the ear is a symptom or evidence of mischief going on within the ear. Some injury having caused an excoriation, or perhaps an inflammation disorganizing some portion of the organ, establishes an ulcerated surface; this surface secretes a discharge sometimes watery, at others thick and mattery; the surface increases in size by the action of the discharge upon the previously healthy parts, and the discharge itself, of course, increases in the same proportion, so that in time the greater part of the outer canal of the ear is a diseased surface; again, the secretion of discharge will cease of itself; the diseased portion, no longer relieved by matter, will grow into what is known as proud flesh, or a tumor will spring up, termed polypus.

I have never found any great difficulty in checking these discharges, neither is there any danger in so doing.

Many physicians say if the discharge is stopped, it will reappear inwardly, and be more injurious than in its present form. This is incorrect. If the system is placed in a healthy condition, and the ulcerated surface gradually and cautiously healed, then there will be no need of alarm; if these precautions are not taken I can readily understand the grounds of fear.

These discharges usually result in proud flesh, or polypus, as I have already observed, from which but little secretion escapes. Surely it is not, and cannot become, necessary to have fleshy substances and tumors growing in one's ears; yet such in substance is the opinion frequently repeated to me as given by medical advisers. Your obedient servant,

FRANCIS SALTER, M.D., Oculist and Aurist.

MONDAY, Oct. 15—A. M.

There was a gradual yielding in prices at the Stock Exchange last week, though the Money Market, as a general remark, was less stringent than the week before, and closed decidedly easier on Saturday. The course of the Foreign Exchanges was also favorable, lower rates being accepted by the regular Bankers on London and Paris, under a large offering of Commercial bills. But this influence was partially counterbalanced by the European mail by the steamer Canada, which represented a closer state of the London and Paris Money Markets, and a strong disposition to move Gold from London to the Continent, irrespective of the currency of Exchange. In the present very favorable look of the Grain export, we do not see that this consideration is to have much weight at present on this side, though it is pretty conclusive of the suspicion that New-York as well as London is to continue to lose some Gold, even while the Exchanges are in our favor—one of the incongruities of trade which belong to a state of war of Europe and the increasing money necessities of the belligerent powers. The decline in State Bonds during the week was 3 ⅌ cent. on Missouri and 1 ⅌ cent. on Virginia. In Railway Bonds, the fluctuations were not conclusive at the Brokers' Board in the class of Eries and Illinois Centrals, actively speculated in, while at private sale and at auction the market was extremely dull, and the few parcels forced on call showed a decline of 1 to 3 ⅌ cent. from previous transactions. In Road Shares we note a fall of 1 ⅌ cent. from Saturday week on Erie, ½ ⅌ cent. on Reading, and 1 ⅌ cent. each on Toledo, Michigan Southern, Panama, and Michigan Central. Galena advanced from 120 to 123½, and fell back to 121. There was considerable speculation through the week in Cumberland Coal and Nicaragua Transit shares, but the prices closed not essentially different from Saturday week; Cumberland ½ ⅌ cent. lower, and Transit ⅛ dearer. The general market was steady, and the Road shares decidedly improved from the sales of Friday.

The Foreign Trade at the Port of New-York, the past week, was remarkably active, and the receipts of Grain and Flour from the interior quite heavy. The Import of Foreign Merchandise, including the Dry Goods table in our last paper, amounts to $4,430,996, against $2,276,033 the corresponding week last year. The table of Foreign Imports, exclusive of Specie for the calendar year to the end of the second week in October, is $121,705,000, against a total of $154,590,000 to same date in 1854. The Export of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods for the past week amounts to $1,507,708, against $1,135,531 the corresponding week last year. The increase is mainly in Breadstuffs, of which the Export movement was $681,578 against $168,026 same week last year. The Cotton export is also much larger, $312,[illegible] against $[illegible]. The total export of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods (including Foreign reexported) for the calendar year to the end of the second week in October amounts to $20,085,000, against $30,312,000 to same period in 1854. The only Specie Export of the week entered at the New-York Custom-House is $81,000 by the North Star, for Havre, on Saturday, against $879,000 directly exported the same week in 1854. The Boston steamer on Wednesday carried out $411,000, nearly the whole of which was sent from this City. The same line carried from Boston $437,000 the corresponding week last year. For the calendar year to the present time, the direct Export of Specie from New-York is $24,792,000, against $32,041,000 to same time in 1854. From the ports of New-York and Boston the two amounts sum up, to the end of the second week in October, $37,854,000, against $38,516,000 to same time in 1854. There were no deliveries of California Gold during the week. One of the packets of the 20th September, the Northern Light, from Nicaragua, arrived on Saturday night, and will deliver, this morning, $461,328. She brings advices that the Panama steamer cleared on 20th, from San Francisco, with a Gold freight of $1,600,000, of which $176,000 was manifested for England, and the remainder for New-York. Some apprehension was felt by shippers in regard to the supply of Gold over the Nicaragua land route, owing to the political troubles on the Pacific side, which accounts for the unequal division of the two freight lists. The deliveries at this port the corresponding week last year amounted to $1,558,047, making to the end of the second week in October, 1854, $36,943,375, against $38,325,559 delivered to the present time in 1855. The regular Sub-Treasury balance, on Saturday afternoon, stood $7,166,849, against $6,915,885, at the close of the previous week. Among the payments of the week is included the transfer of $300,000 to the Mint at Philadelphia. The Bank averages of the week, to be made up this afternoon, are not likely to vary largely in the Specie reserve from the previous statement, when the amount stood $11,110,687. The following is a comparative statement of the exports of the principal articles of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods, from this port, during the week just closed, and the corresponding week of last year:

	1855.		1854.
	Quantity.	Value.	Quantity.	Value.
Cotton, bales	2,424	$99,456	5,269	$312,168

The Anthracite Coal Trade for the week and season from the Lehigh and Schuylkill fields, is as follows:

	Week.	Season.	To date last year.
Reading Railroad	49,311	1,301,362	1,726,195
Schuylkill Company	36,199	925,565	750,044
Lehigh Company	32,632	1,013,605	948,963
Total tonnage		3,792,732	3,425,602

This makes the increase from the two regions, over the trade of last season, 362,000 tons. The Miners' Journal says that the increase from the Lackawanna region through the Delaware and Hudson Canal, &c., is 240,000 tons; though this rate of increase will hardly be kept up to the close of the Canal season. Last year there were one or two serious interruptions in the Delaware and Hudson Canal. There will be no increase this season in the supply of Bituminous Coal from the Cumberland or other sources. The Dauphin Company will not mine over 10,000 tons, against 63,000 tons last year.

ADDITIONAL RAILROAD RETURNS—SEPTEMBER.

The amount of Lake Superior Copper which passed through the St. Mary's Ship Canal in the month of September was equal to 510 tons of 2,000 pounds each. There was also passed 127 tons Lake Superior Iron ore.

Mr. ALBERT H. NICHOLY will hold his semi-weekly Auction sale of Stocks and Bonds at the Merchants' Exchange this day at 12½ o'clock.

The Cincinnati papers complain, in very indignant terms, of the withholding from the press and the public of the telegraphic news by the Canada on Wednesday morning last. The steamer arrived at Halifax on Tuesday evening. The news was in the New-York morning papers of Wednesday, and was in the Cincinnati telegraph office about 8 o'clock the same morning, with orders not to publish until 2 o'clock. Meanwhile, large speculations were made in Flour, through the day, on private dispatches from New-York. The Enquirer states that the arrival of the steamer was announced to the press on Tuesday night; but then a note appended to withhold all mention of the fact, as there was "some mistake." When the newspaper dispatch did come, says the Cincinnati Commercial, it read, "Breadstuffs materially unchanged;" whereas the most important item by the steamer was that "Breadstuffs had materially advanced." The Commercial requests the New-York papers to lend assistance in discovering the "fellow in this City, who uses the fires of heaven to serve a devilish purpose." Accordingly we have stated the circumstances, briefly, as they appear upon the Cincinnati record. The system of withholding Halifax news from the public in mid-day, is regarded in business circles here with as little favor as it can possibly be in the West. The inconvenience occurs more frequently, and the mischief is not likely to be less.

We are requested to state that at a meeting of the stockholders of the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac Railroad, held at Chicago, on the 2d inst., the following Directors were elected for the ensuing year: William B. Ogden, Nelson K. Wheeler, John P. Chapin, and Henry Smith, of Chicago; Joel B. Johnson, Woodstock; Joseph A. Wood and John J. R. Pease, of Janesville, Wis; Daniel Jones, Watertown; Mason C. Darling and A. G. Butler, of Fond du Lac; Charles Butler, and William C. Langley, of New-York; William Jarvis, Middletown, Ct.; James H. Hickok and John Bradley, of Burlington, Vt.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, William B. Ogden of Chicago, was elected President, and J. W. Currier, of New-York, Secretary. The earnings of the first division of the Road from Chicago to Woodstock (now in operation) for Sept., were, $11,084.

The following Road Shares were sold at auction at Cincinnati last week:

20 shares Cincinnati, Ham. and Dayton Railroad, 70; 28 Indianapolis and Cincinnati Railroad, 32; 106 Ohio and Mississippi, 8¾ and int.; 82 do. do., 9 and int.; 20 do. do., 10 and int.; 100 Marietta and Cincinnati Railroad, 40½; 36 Central Ohio, 20; 26 Covington and Lexington Railroad, 37 and int.; 50 Little Miami, 95; 10 Cincinnati, Ham. and Dayton Railroad, 73; 180 Cincinnati and Chicago, 12 and int.; 30 Cincinnati, Wilmington and Zanesville Railroad, 35; 60 Columbia and Xenia, 30; 48 Ohio and Mississippi, 8¾ and int.; 60 do. do., 8¾ and int.; 15 Marietta and Cincinnati Railroad, 39 and int.

MR. DANIEL D. PAGE, of PAGE & BACON, St. Louis, offers at public auction his large real estate in the Stoddard Addition to the City of St. Louis, on the following terms. The sale takes place to-morrow, 16th inst.:

One-third cash, the balance in the Stock of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Company, paid by PAGE & BACON to their creditors, at the rate paid out, to wit: 50 cents on the dollar. Or, one-third cash, the balance in the unmatured paper of PAGE & BACON, which is not secured by collaterals. Or, all in the matured indebtedness of PAGE & BACON, or PAGE, BACON & Co. Or, one-fourth cash, the balance in notes at 1, 2 and 3 years, with six ⅌ cent. interest, secured by deeds of trust.

The first year's business in the Assay Office in this City amounted, in the deposits of Gold Bullion to $27,952,778

Silver Bullion 278,403

Total $28,231,181

The Lake receipts of Grain at Buffalo on Thursday last were 34,[illegible] bushels, all in Wheat, or Wheat in Flour. The business in Indian Corn of the old crop fell off materially at the West, last week. The new crop will soon be coming forward from the South. On Friday, at Buffalo, the Lake receipts are reported 40,776, all Wheat and Wheat in Flour, except 5,240 bushels Rye. There is at present afloat on the Lakes bound for Oswego 262,[illegible] bushels Grain, all Wheat except 17,166 in Indian Corn. The Lake clearances from Chicago on Tuesday last were 142,806 bushels Grain, of which only 12,400 bushels in Corn. The clipper ship Adelaide, Captain HAMILTON, at this port from San Francisco, has about 3,000 tons of freight, among which are 10,054 sacks Barley, 12,[illegible] 301 sacks Wheat, 400 bbls., 422 sacks, and 166 casks Flour, 124 bags, 402 bales Wool, 227 bales Rags, 92 bales Sheep Skins, 150 boxes Tea, and 5,202 Hides.

Business of the St. Mary's Falls Ship Canal.

From the Lake Superior Journal.

The aggregate of the business of this Canal for the month of September shows some diminution in receipts. This is owing principally to the fact that the carrying trade has been in the hands of the regular steamboat lines. This, however, will not be taken for a decision in the business of the Upper Peninsula, as most of the steamers and propellers are loaded to their utmost capacity. The fact that mills are enlisted upon the improvement of vessels and not upon freights, necessarily prevent any regular classification of freights in the reports to the Canal Office. The Clerks have enough labor on their hands without making detailed statements of their cargo at the Canal Office, especially since the recent change in mail arrangements. We give as full a report of freights up and down as possible under the circumstances alluded to. The condition of the Canal warrants the belief that it will be used as late in the season as the business run. The amount of freight now going into the mineral region will not be less than that of any previous year. The total receipts and expenditures of the Canal from the 16th June to the 30th September, inclusive, are as follows:

	Receipts.	Expenditures.
June	$[illegible]	$[illegible]
July	920 91	919 21
August	990 72	896 26
September	936 66	779 32
Total	$3,866 64	$3,912 34

Showing a balance of $156 64. It will be remembered that a large item in expense account of the Canal at this time is the payment of some debts contracted in the early part of the season for machinery, fixtures, &c., &c.

These are being reduced as fast as possible and will probably be canceled during the current year.

The number of steamers, propellers and sail vessels that have passed the Canal during the month of September, is:

	Vessels.	Tons.
Upward bound	16	4[illegible]
Downward bound	13	327 [illegible]
Total	29	6759 [illegible]

The number of passengers carried above and below during the month of September is, 1,422.

The amount of freight carried up during the month of September, is as follows:

Coal, tons	941	Bbls. Prov., etc., pkg	11,023
Cattle, No.	20	Machinery, lbs	60,975
Flour, bbls.	1,503	Merchandise, do.	[illegible]
Grain, bags	2,000	Sheet Iron, lbs	10,000
Hay, bales
